SIGN OF THE TIGER

*Withrow High School
Cincinnati, Ohio
Volume XLVIII 1968*

All Zodiac signs on our fountain have certain characteristics which set them apart, which make them different. We too have special qualities which identify us as Withrowites, which represent THE SIGN OF THE TIGER. For the Sign is tradition and pride, with a surge into the new and unexplored. It appears in a group of spirited fans and radiantly shows itself upon the calling of a Dux or Sig. On graduation night it silently beams. THE SIGN OF THE TIGER is reflected in us — in all that we do; in all that we say . . .

SIGN of the TIGER

*Everything's different this year . . .
I'm even scheduled for gym twice a day . . . At least two weeks before you can change me? . . . I see . . .
Oh, well, I always did like gym . . . I'm 977362 . . .
If I have to fill out another finding card, I'll scream . . . The apartment building isn't so bad anymore . . . Guess I'm getting used to it . . . I wish it would snow enough for school to close . . .*

*This test is awful . . . Next is band . . . One hundred and eighteen cars have gone down Madison Road so far this bell . . . They should have a fire drill . . .
That would be a five-minute break . . . I'm hungry . . .
Wish I had eaten lunch . . . When is this day going to end? . . .
I'll never be able to finish this lab experiment . . .*

*They finally turned the fountain on . . .
Those auditorium study halls are maddening . . . Fifteen hundred screaming kids in one big room . . . I'm sure glad she liked our play . . . Those costumes were such a bother to make . . . I didn't have to do much for mine . . . I'm the witch . . . Maybe we'll go outside in art . . . I think I'll sketch the apartment building on fire . . . Somebody let a dog in . . .
"Situation 'X' is now in effect . . . All teachers stand outside your doors until further notice" . . . Did you hear that? . . . I wonder what happened? . . .*

Did you see Mr. Hlad? . . . Those teachers really had fun . . .
I go home early on Fridays —at the end of fifth bell . . .
No school for an entire week-end . . . But Monday catches up with me . . .
Wish I would work harder . . . Everytime I think of all that history homework . . .
For the first time, I really understand my math . . .
I actually made an "A" on the test . . . You know, being a senior is great . . .

*Did you see those new math teachers? . . . That one is really neat . . . Makes you wish you were taking typing . . .
 I'm glad we're having "Sounds" . . .
 It just wouldn't be the same without it . . . It's almost the end of the year . . . I'll be graduating . . .
 I wonder if I'm ready*

Things will be different . . .
No one to remind me of when to get things finished . . .
It will be left up to me . . .
What am I going to be? . . . What do I want out of life? . . .
It's hard . . . Really hard . . . To determine my whole future . . . I know I want to be myself . . . I don't want to be like everyone else in this world . . . That's my goal . . .
To be my real self . . .

The first step to learning is taken when we ask why. As we climb higher, our questions become broader and deeper, and we sense a distant ray of knowledge.

CURRICULUM

WORDS

We studied that the words are arbitrary symbols: they do not mean the things they stand for; they are simply noises that men give to the objects.

None should believe this more than I, just now, when the attempt to get their meanings hurts my ears and troubles my mind. Words are the most melodious song if I know what you are talking about, they are terrible sounds when I misunderstand you. But I forget everything we read, everything you said. Words are now all my treasure and all my poverty. They are what I fear and what I fight with. They are my weapons but they attack me. They carry all the love I have to give and bring me all the indifference my love meets sometimes. But if the words were not, how could the poet tell me about "the silent cat feet of the fog" or "the green smell of the early morning"? Men gave me the ready language and said to me-communicate. So I took all my feelings, all my thoughts to discover what stands for this precious noise - friend.

Written by Isabel de Castro Silveira, Exchange Student from Brazil.

Lady Macbeth (Cindy Draggoo) presented Macbeth (Helen Hummel) with evidence of King Duncan's death.

Acquisition of a new overhead projector and the novels Pygmalion and Animal Farm provided students with a new aspect of English on both visual and literal levels. Approaches to English teaching were also varied by the arrival of Mrs. Bella Lowry, Miss Anne Mayer, and Mr. Phillip Wise. Under the new techniques, students engaged in panel and seminar discussions dealing with topics from racial strife to allegorical interpretations. Scholastic Creative Writing Awards were available to the writers of exceptional essays, poems, or stories. Concluding the school year, some students compiled anthologies of their original works.

Demonstating the dances of Job's era were Paula Frankenburger and Linda Scott.

English Students Probe Literary Styles

Intense learning sharpened the minds of Mrs. Fettner's English class.

Mrs. Doeren drilled her Spanish III lab classes in pronunciation.

Lab Courses Brought Modern Languages To Life

In a German skit, Dan Antle and Wolfgang Sell were unaware of the coming wrath of Cheryl Duncan.

Ric Seibert pondered the German point of view in a Berlin newspaper.

Cincinnati was a German-speaking city in 1867. Now, one-hundred years later, Mrs. Joyce Kilmer used modern techniques in teaching the old-world language of German. One of her methods in class was to have students present plays spoken entirely in German. These projects made daily grammar drills seem worthwhile in the students' attempts to speak "Deutsch" fluently. German papers provided another way to teach the students the language of their city's heritage.

Bill Miller explained the curved line theory for Dave Forthuber.

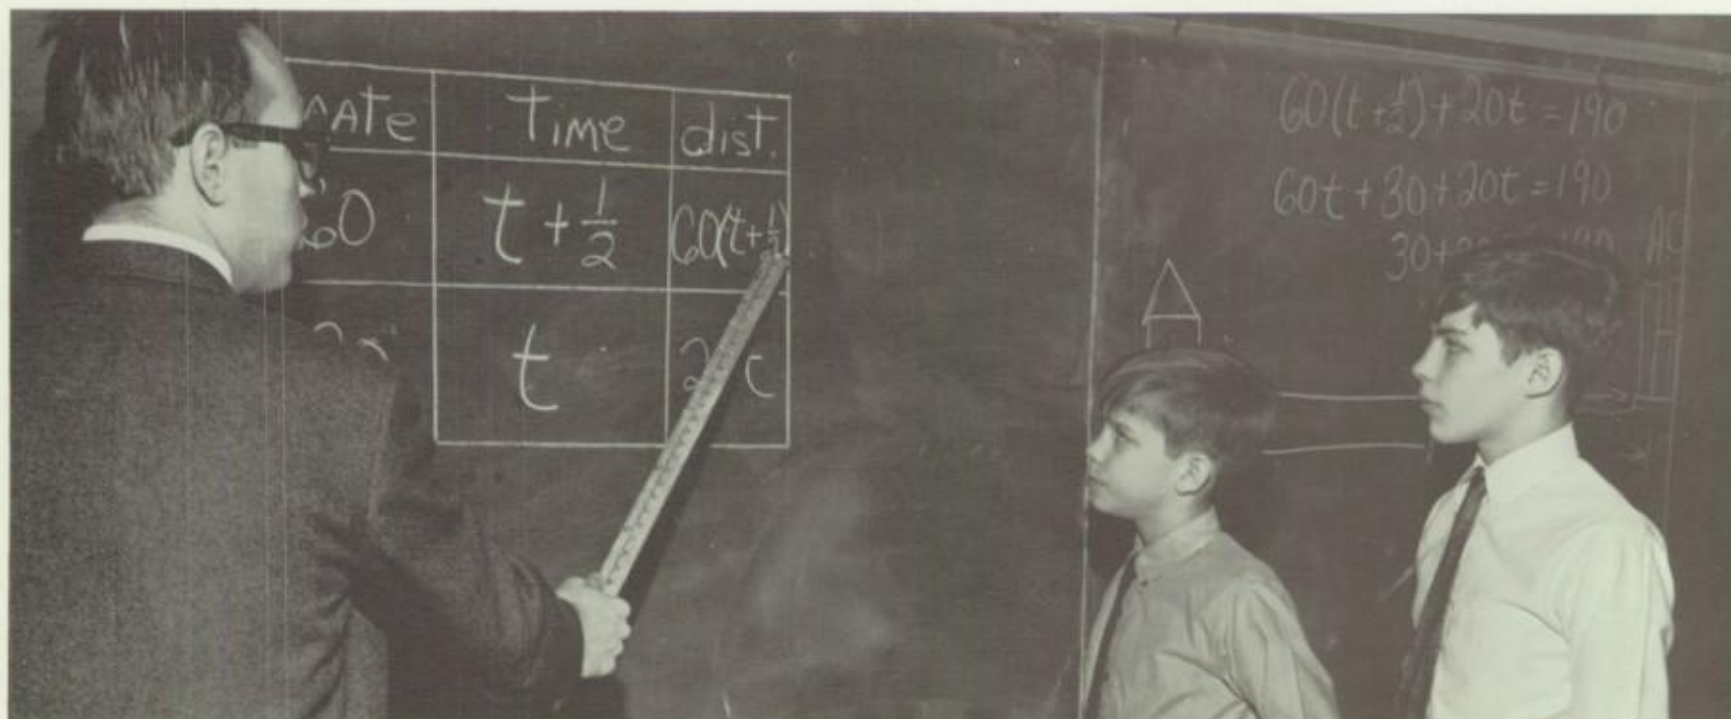

Geometry And Algebra Quiz The Mind

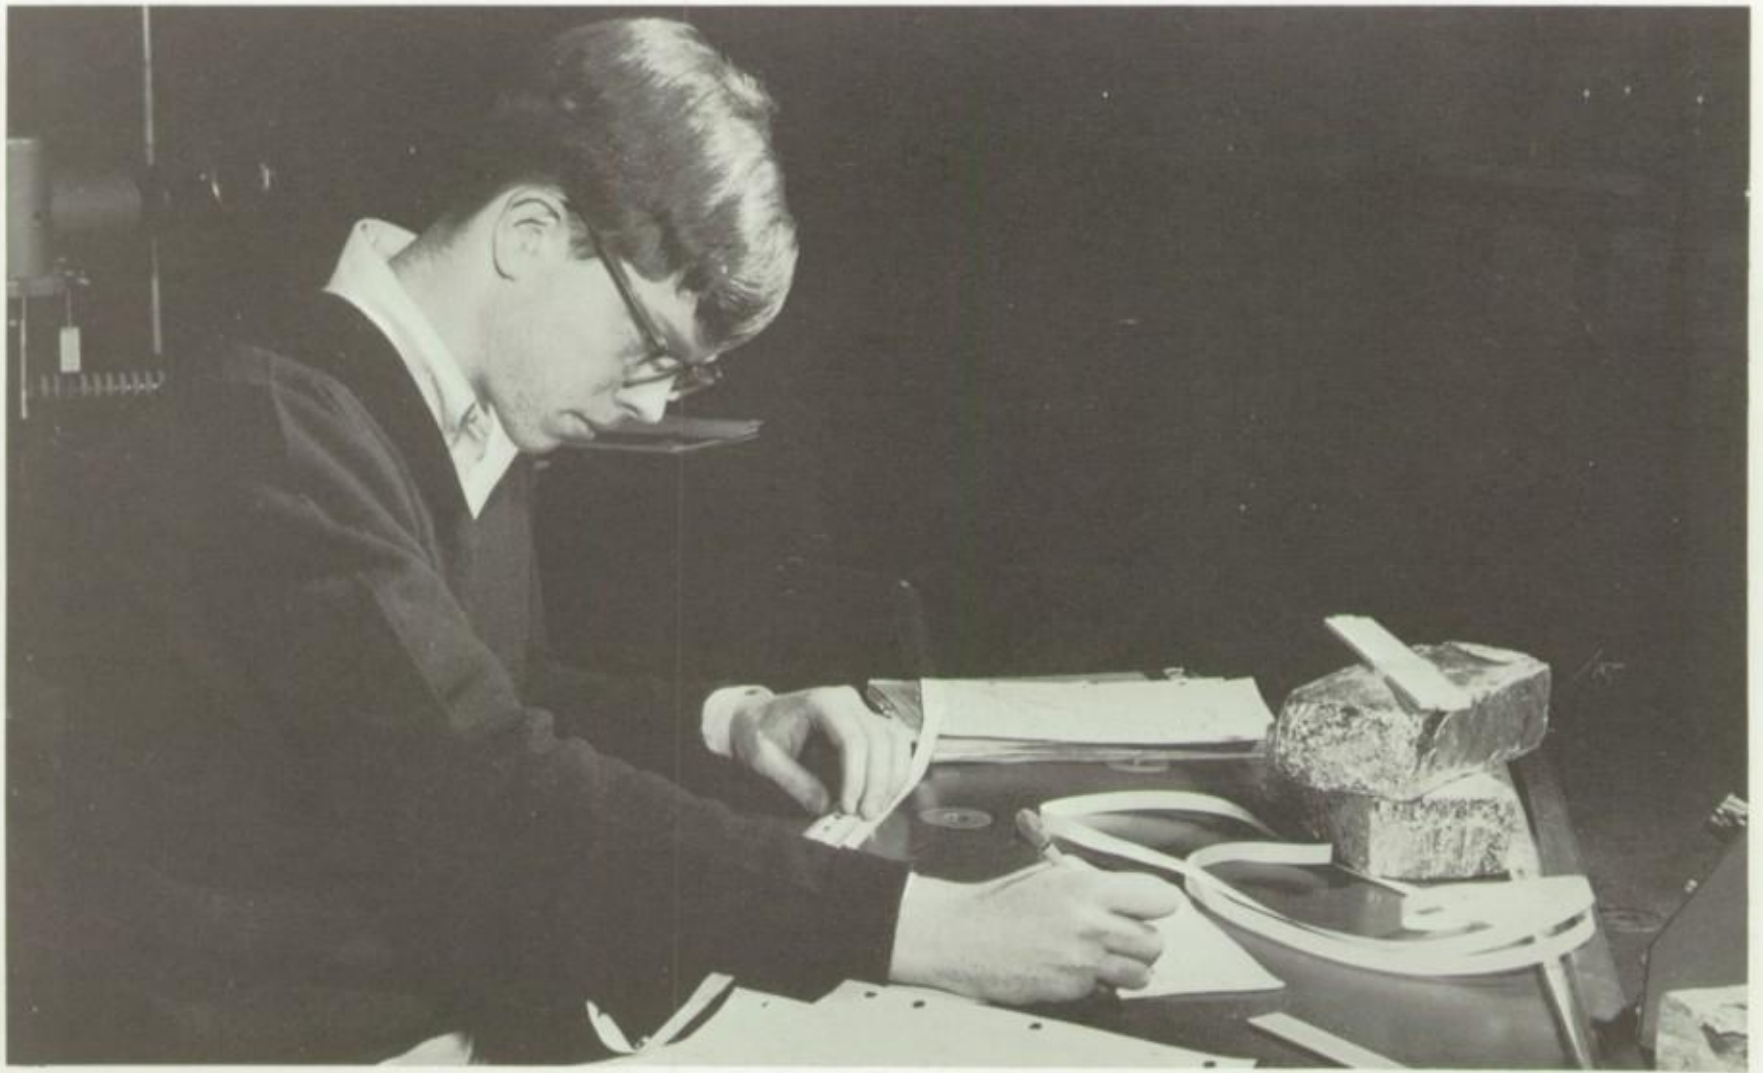

Comparison of a pyramid to a hexagon cylinder provided more knowledge of solid geometry.

Training the minds of the future through algebra, geometry, business and Advanced Placement Math, teachers prepared students for keen competition in college. For the first time general students studied geometry at level two. At the end of the senior year, Advanced Placement students took a test to determine their eligibility to take sophomore math in college.

Algebra problems baffled Brooks Lavender and Larry Reinhardt until Mr. Christena proved the formula.

Recording data required Ned Hastings to observe experiments carefully.

Students in Mr. Yonka's botany class discussed the photosynthesis of plants.

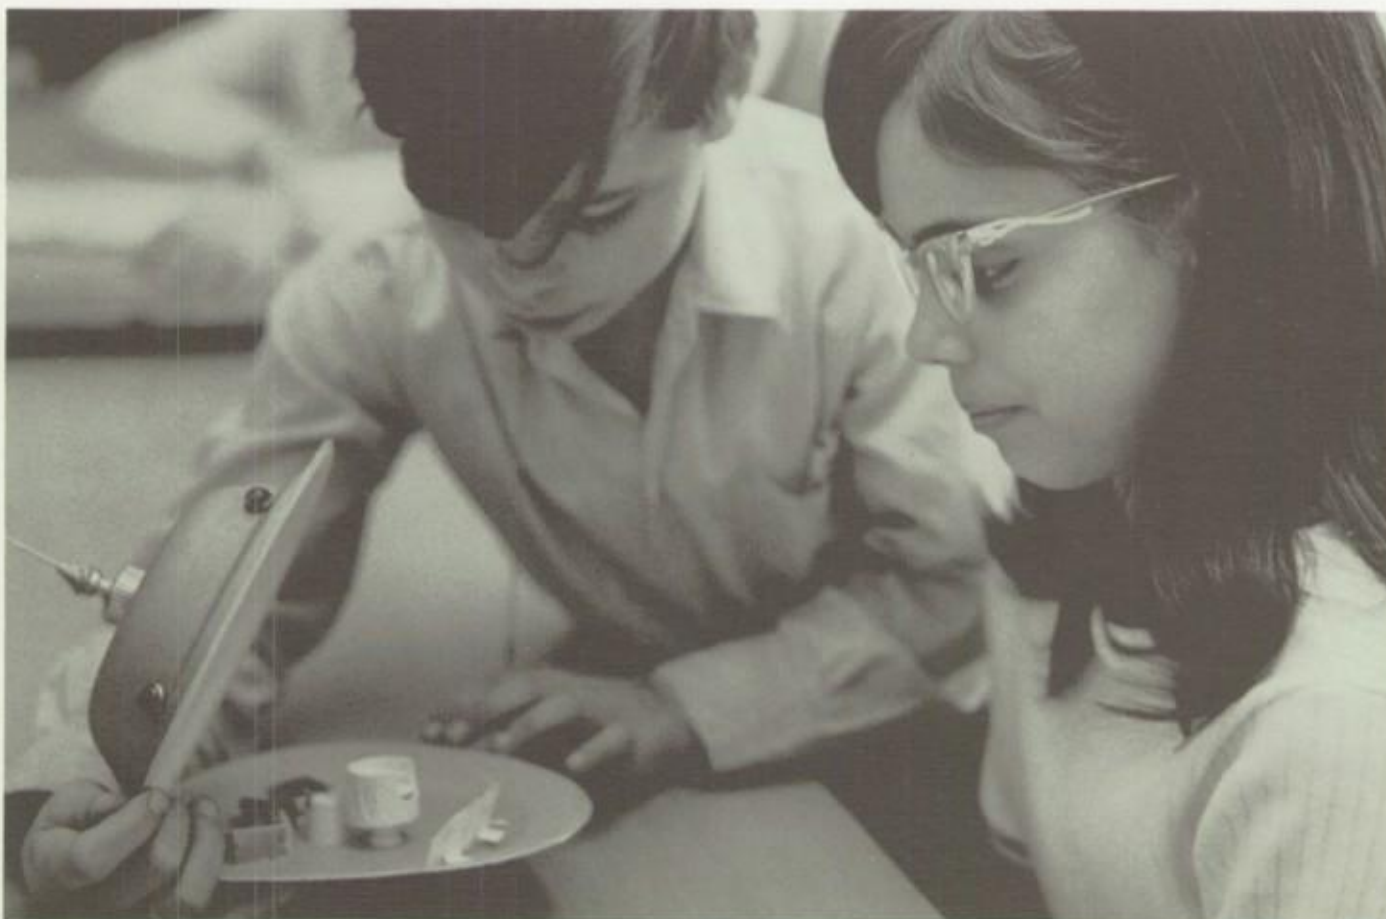

Battery-powered telephones were operated by eighth grade students.

Exclamations of surprise echoed throughout the first floor as chemistry students witnessed the burning of magnesium. At the same time, there was a search for three mice that had disappeared from zoology class. After school, the labs were quieter as teachers and students planned projects. One enterprise involved gathering fossils from Cincinnati's riverbeds while many trees on the campus were a source for leaf collections. With the assistance of teachers and access to numerous resources, many students related science to their lives.

Experiments Lead To Discovery

Debbie Collins and Tim Walters examined a flying saucer.

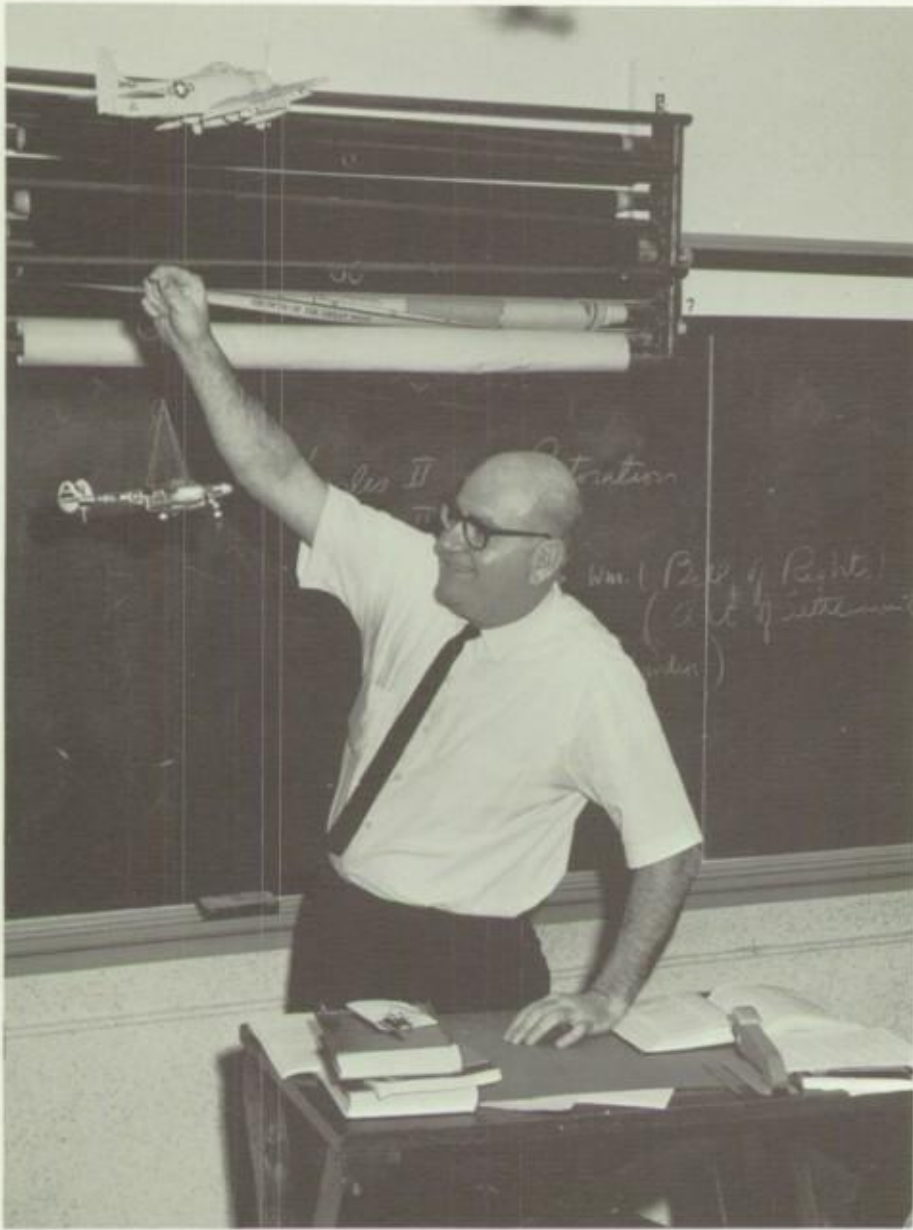

In Miss Caveman's class, tax burdens of peasants in Old England were compared to today's.

History Solves The Mystery Of Past Events

Egyptian burial rites were reviewed by Pam Hadley.

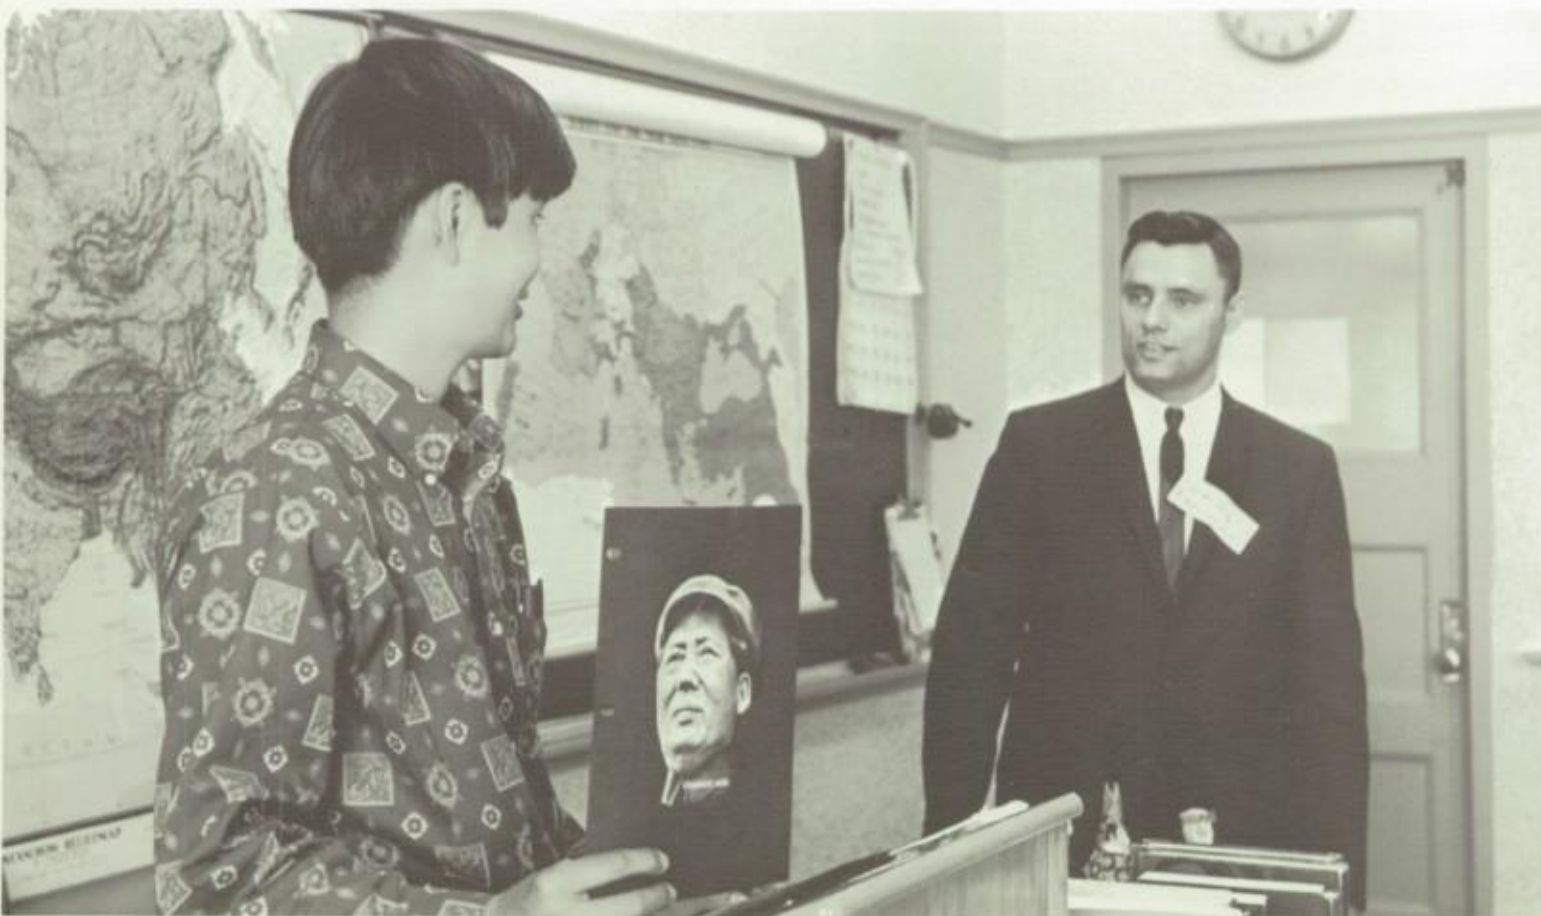

Throughout the period of six high school years, students had the opportunity of selecting numerous history courses out of ten choices offered at Withrow. Freshmen curricula surpassed the upper grades with a grand total of five branches of history, including Civics, Regional and World Geography, and Ancient and Mediaeval History. Sophomores undertook Economic Relations and Modern and World History. Although the topics in the junior and senior years were limited, America History, Socio-Economic Problems and Advanced Placement Modern European History classes studied government, society, politics, and thoughts in depth and detail in a series of lectures, discussions, and research projects.

"C'mon, Snoopy. I know you're in there SOME place!" demanded Mr. Lemon.

Chinese student Teung Chin discusses Mao Tse Tung with Mr. Jenike.

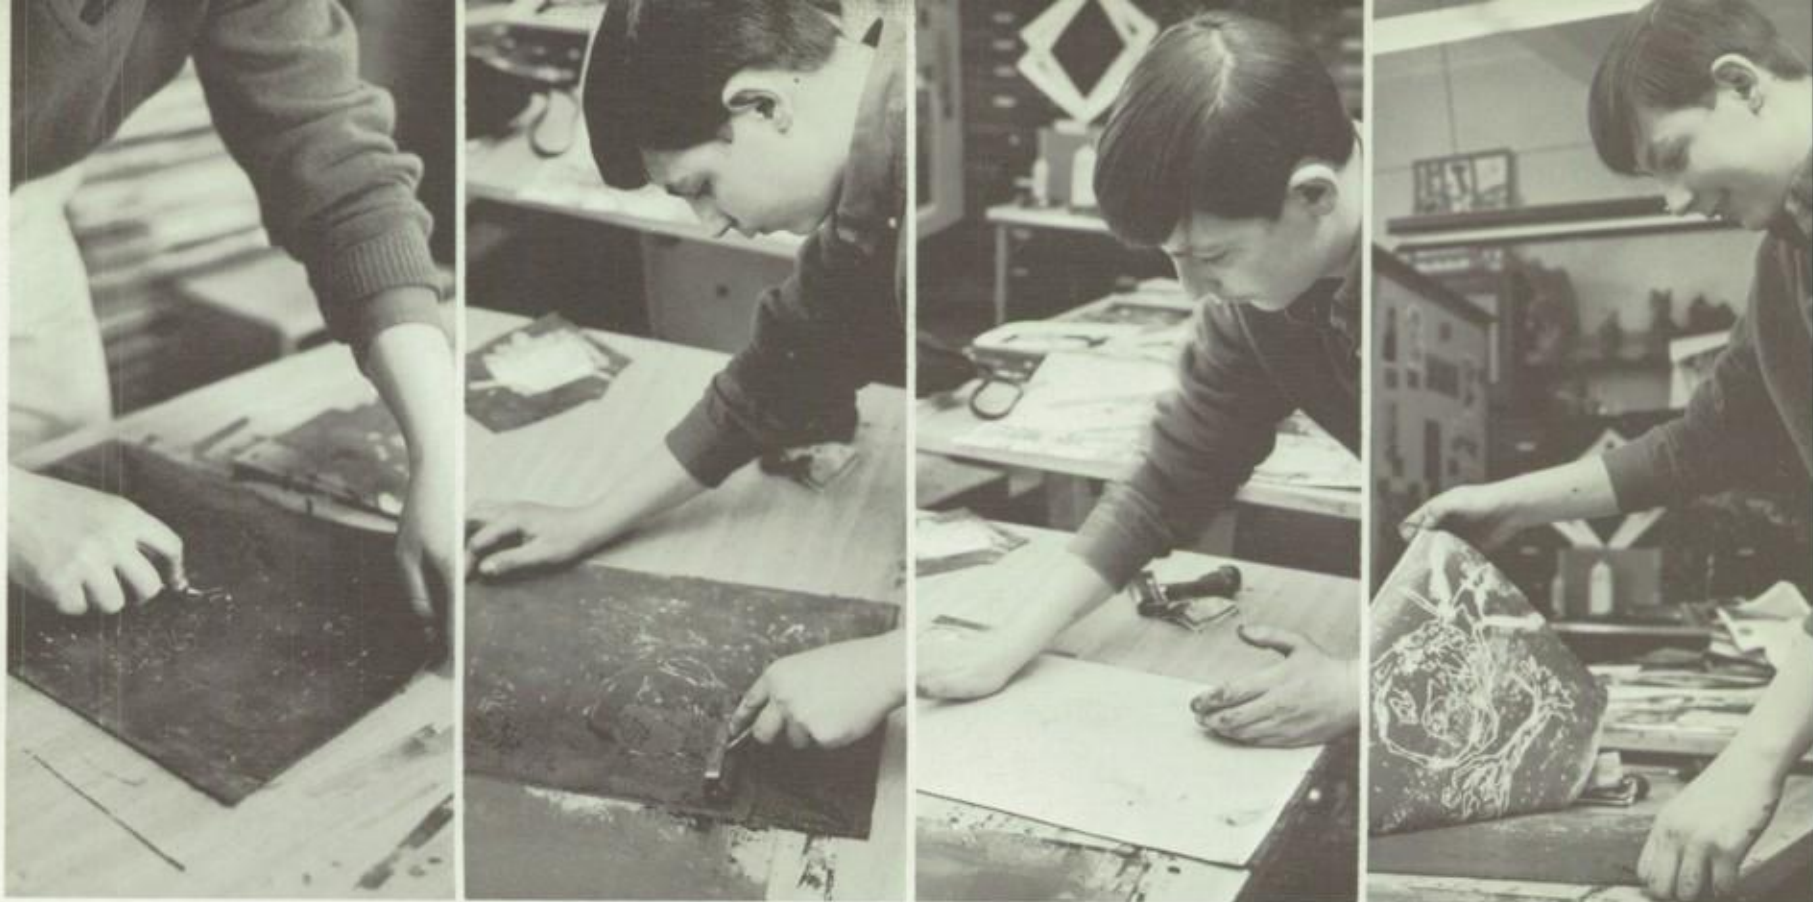

Novice fingers strived to animate the mass of clay.

Artistic Creation Entails Self-expression

Mrs. Miller, of Miller Galleries, explained printmaking to Diane Murdock and Debbie McDonough.

Linoleum block cutting supplied an inky but satisfying result for Tom Seta.

Block printing and a collage were blended by Belinda Watson.

Stray drops of acrylic paint and traces of wood shavings and modeling clay clung to tables and benches in the three art classrooms. Sessions, held two or five times each week, gave the youthful artists opportunities to express ideas from original stage settings to ceramic dishes. Field trips to the Contemporary Art Center and Taft Museum instilled appreciation for masterpieces while enterprising students gained membership in Young Friends of the Arts. Additional requirements for an art credit included lessons concerning the history and types of art and the artistic geniuses of each era. After the paintbrushes were washed and the tables were sponged, students could recall the hours of creation, observation, and study connected with art class.

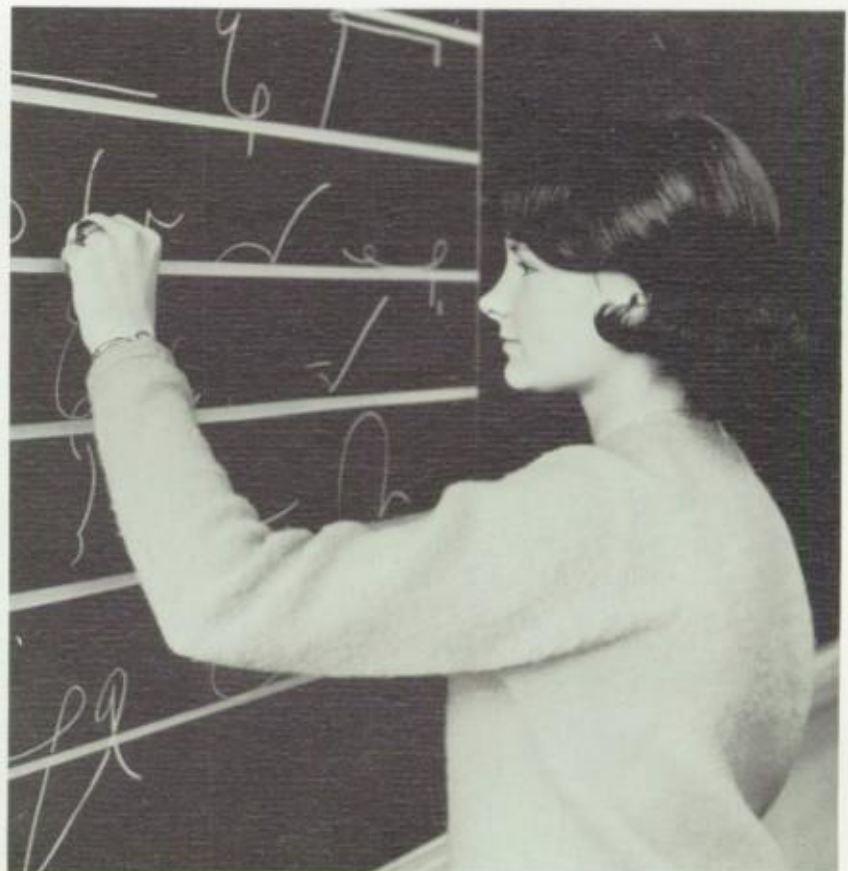

Ink application for the duplicating machine was explained to Fran Bedinghaus by Mrs. Tenninholtz.

Office Machines was a vocational course designed to bridge the gap between the classroom and the business office. Replacing Mr. Kumpf, Mr. Taylor stressed the usage of typing and adding machines, the two most frequently used machines in the office, as he prepared students for secretarial and accounting positions. The offset duplicator and the ten-key and full-key calculators were a few units covered to introduce clerical and business functions. Upon completion of Office Machines, students were eligible for positions through a job placement service as billing clerks, calculating machine operators or reproduction specialists.

Bookkeeping kept Bob Scott in a world of sales and losses.

Sherry King demonstrated proper shorthand formation.

Toil Is Law In Future Business Careers

Young typists strived to set record timings while typing business letters and invoices.

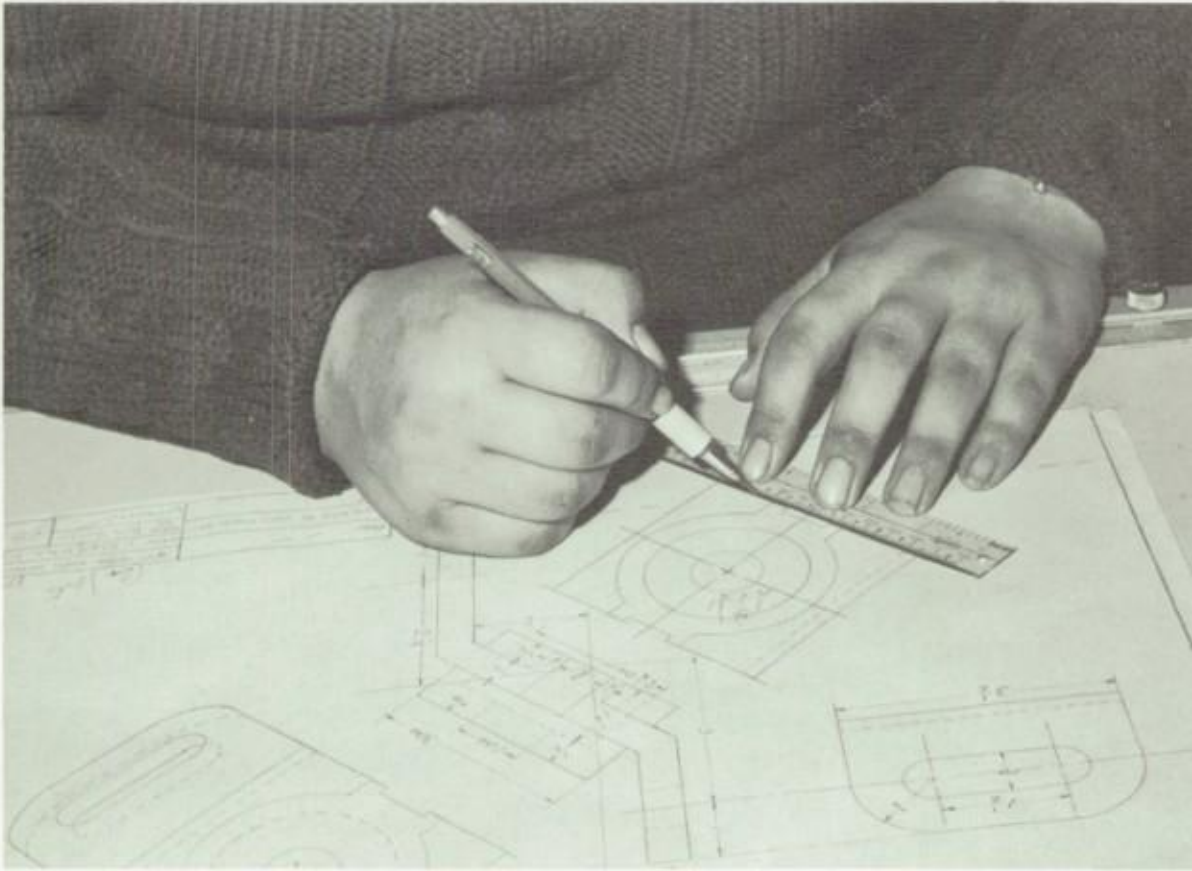

Three cooking class students conferred on what was sure to be a chef's delight.

Sewing rips in clothing, a vital role of future housewives, was highlighted by Mrs. Harper.

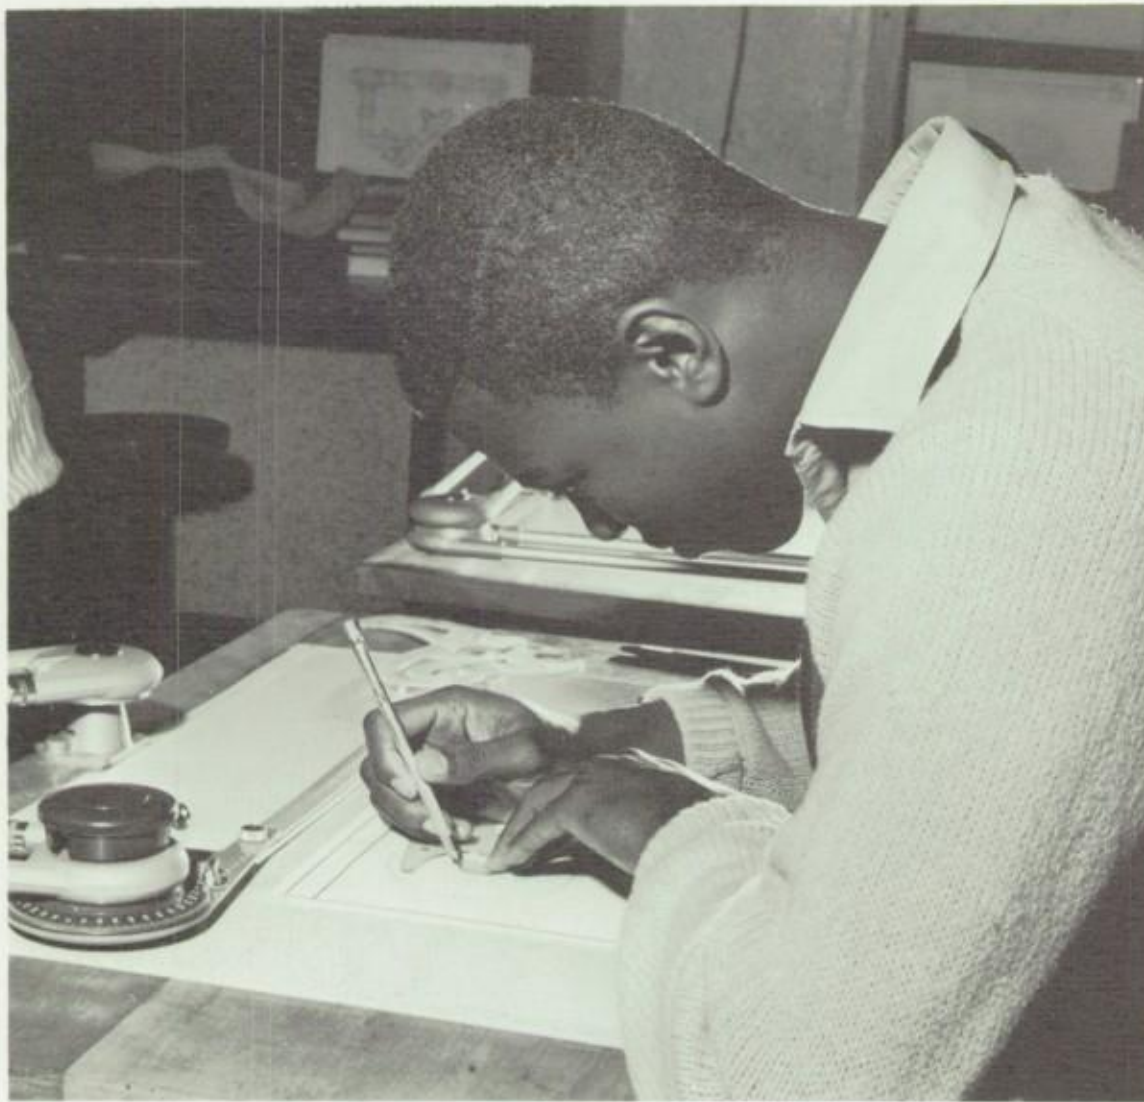

Nimble fingers and a supple mind were prerequisites for precise diagrams.

Drawing Boards Reveal Hidden Skills

To achieve accuracy, John Motley used French curves to plot an harmonic cam.

Students in mechanical drawing classes garnered a basic knowledge of the mechanics of blueprinting by utilizing such exacting tools as T-squares and protractors, unique implements of the graphic arts trades. A drawing board and precise calibrations, once unfamiliar, became an integral part of their daily routine.

Cellists practiced a crescendo in Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony."

Pat Simpson's tambourine punctuated "Tiajuana Taxi."

One hundred voices along with Withrow's orchestra of forty-five members blended softly in the hymn "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come." Whatever the holiday, the music department provided a special assembly or an evening concert. Before Christmas, the various choral groups and the orchestra presented a collection of festive songs under the direction of Mr. Martin and Mr. Parke. In spring, the choir and band represented Withrow at the All-City Music Festival. The music department finished with their major performance, "The Sounds of Withrow."

Senior Choir and the orchestra waited for the signal to begin the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Rhythm presented no problem to trumpet players Blanche McKee, Mike Stevens, and Jack Shaffer.

Presenting: The Withrow Marching Tigers

Homecoming Parade was spiced with Withrow's fight song played by the marching Tigers.

Thump! Deidra Miller lined another serve over the net.

Miss Nolte's students exemplified good and poor posture in their studies.

Indoor track training prepared boys for spring competition.

New developments were stressed in the Physical Education department this year. The program began with football, soccer, and track for the boys and archery and hockey for the girls. As winter approached classes moved inside for basketball, volleyball, and swimming. The spring program's main event was softball. Mr. Chambers, Mr. Mather, and Mr. Neimann were in charge of the boys this year. A stricter attendance policy and a more rigorous workout was initiated by this new staff. Swimming, directed by Mr. Neimann, was a nine-week alternate with gym, instead of a full eighteen-week semester course as in previous years.

Gym Teachers Stress Endurance

Gymnasts found that supporting a cage ball with their feet was harder than they had thought.

Withrow's former captain, Mr. Ayer, is honored by his former crew at a banquet on the Delta Queen.

New Schedule Tests Teacher Flexibility

If a student could not contact a teacher after school, he may have found his instructor assisting others in outside school or community work, such as P.T.A. or tutoring. Courses were planned by teachers on textbook or curriculum committees. Puffing and shouting orders, his instructor may have been coaching the team for the big game.

Perhaps the teacher was playing on his own team with his colleagues during Faculty Play Day. If a student were more successful in his search, his pedagogue may have been in the room working on his thesis for his Master's degree.

These activities enabled teachers to expand on the process of learning.

Administration Starts Work Experience Program

Three new faces greeted Withrow students when school began. Mr. Renshaw, principal, attempted to improve relationships between students, teachers, and administrators by instigating the Bi-Racial Council and inviting teachers to informally discuss problems regularly. Mr. Lyons did most of the new scheduling this year. A special duty for Mr. Armstrong was establishing the dress code. Mr. Loughrey headed the junior high with other duties.

Former English Teacher, Mr. Renshaw, Returns To Face Difficult Yet Conquerable Tasks

"Situation 'X' is now in effect! All teachers take their posts!"

Displaying volumes of Withrow Annuals since 1946 and an almost perfect attendance at athletic events demonstrated Mr. Marvin Renshaw's enthusiasm towards journalism and sports. His earlier Air Force teaching career, plus the satisfaction of working with young people, attracted him to the field of education, where he became a Withrow English teacher and Tower News adviser, who began Cardiac Capers. His numerous athletic abilities are confirmed by bowling trophies, years managing and performing on softball teams, and golfing "for the exercise." Mr. Renshaw envisioned an expanding sports program and development of instruction on a more individualized basis.

Miss Topmoeller showed Pennee Dollison that she should have a personal data sheet when applying for a job.

Office Staff Caters To 3,600 Student Needs

Students relied upon ten counselors and eight secretaries. Daily bulletins were organized and typed, while ACT scores poured in to be recorded. Club dues and bus token sales were only two of Mrs. Corry's duties. Under the New Job Corps program, students obtained part-time jobs, and counselors helped provide for them the necessary college information.

Aromas of homemade bread and coffee cake often permeated the kitchen of Miss Anne Bourgeois. Baking, however, filled only part of her time. Although a math teacher, Miss Bourgeois investigated the philosophy of modern existentialists and created poetry reflecting her concept of life as a "constant quest for God." As she and her students conquered algebraic equations, Miss Bourgeois tried to integrate the other events of today by relating math to each student's life.

Helping young artists in expressing their ideas in splotches of paint and clumps of clay added a dab of color to students' full-scheduled days. Mr. Wilson, admirer of Picasso, Levine, and Wyeth, spent many hours after school painting scenes for a small theatrical group. Aiding a professional printer in lithography and traveling to Florida during summer vacation added the final touches to his own self-portrait.

How does the war in Vietnam affect us? Mrs. Howard offered such questions to create discussions about current events. Having been intrigued by world affairs, she decided to major in sociology at college. She saw the changes in our country by traveling, as well as by studying. After camping in thirty-six states, she gave her classes a first-hand view of America, its diversities and changes. Mrs. Howard desired to teach teenagers to think wisely, because they face more moral decisions than ever before.

Good standing in these subjects enabled him to stay in America under the Ford Youth of Greece program. After visiting Greece, Mr. Fekkos decided to return to this country to attend Kentucky's Moorehead University. His field of study blended with his hobby of gardening. Biologist Mr. Fekkos focussed his efforts on teaching biology and writing his thesis to obtain his Master's degree.

Why? Why? Why? Any student unwilling to struggle for the answer avoided Room 250. A knack for provoking creative thoughts in her students characterized one English teacher, Miss Susan Richmond. Teachers Turn Athletes At Faculty Play Day

Mrs. Paulette Krapp

"Oh, no! My graph turned out to be a circle again!" Such were the exasperated cries which a Math II teacher faced each day. The study of geometry became a whirl of angles, postulates, and points when taught by Mrs. Paulette Krapp. Her preoccupation with math, however, occasionally gave way for an invigorating afternoon of ice skating or an evening of sewing. Of primary concern to Mrs. Krapp was the folder of blueprints for an ultra modern house overlooking Coney Island and the Ohio River.

Aroma of fresh popcorn filled the school and Mrs. Rice was tempted to ignore her diet. She had a weakness for popcorn and poetry, especially poems by John Donne. As Scribblers' adviser, she helped young writers to acquire cultural knowledge and improve their styles. A former student of the ballet, the teacher sometimes felt the urge to don her slippers again. Following her new all-English schedule, Mrs. Rice wanted her students to have a grasp of composition as did her French students last year.

750 Seniors Pursue Money-making Schemes

Traces of leftover scotch tape and ripped corners of colored posters on Withrow walls were slight remainders of a rousing campaign in the junior year which designated the positions of the Senior Class. The class officers, under the direction of Mr. James "G" Gallagher, along with the Senior Class Board, met during lunchless Tuesdays and Thursdays to improvise profitable money-making schemes for a Senior Class gift to the school. Selling Reece's Cups in the main hall and peddling candy apples in the stadium during chilly football games were two projects pursued by our 750 seniors.

Participation in A.C.T. and S.A.T. tests will scatter forty percent of our graduating class in colleges from Boston to Los Angeles.

Dux And Sigs Lead Withrow In Activities

Criteria for becoming a member of Dux Femina or Sigma Gamma were leadership, scholarship, and a warm personality. Members of these service organizations not only held major offices in activities, but also competed for the highest scho-

"Meeting and getting to know new people is something I'll always look forward to," remarked the complaisant blue-eyed Senior Class Treasurer. Janie Hughes' affinity for people showed itself whenever she attended a History Club meeting or participated in Student Council projects. Drill team and Dolphin Club dominated her after school hours. Janie's various activities were brought to a climax as she was claimed by the members of Dux at the end of her junior year.

Staggering up and down steep stairwells and through jammed corridors after a hard school day, Dave Blocksom, unsurpassed Ticketbooth salesman, modestly snickered upon recalling his imitations of "Froggy," featured on "Our Gang Comedies." Before tackling calculus from Miss Graham and essays for A. P. English, "Blocks" set his mood by climaxing his basketball and football games on Sunday afternoons with a typical "Bowery Boys" routine.

Vickie Alexander

Vicki Alexander got a real kick out of football games as a varsity cheerleader. Between the games she assumed her vice-presidential duties in both French Club and Dux. Vicki kept in shape for Dolphins by practicing at the Mt. Lookout Swim Club during the summer. Flavoring her interest in community affairs was her work at the Hyde Park Teen Center. After finishing her work, Vicki merely longed to walk barefoot in the rain.

Upperclassmen Vie For Merit Scholarships

Charles Teichman

Displaying academic prowess by taking Advanced Placement courses in math and chemistry, a serious aspect was added to Tigertown by a somber Sig. As a participant in Chess Club, Charlie plotted attacks against opponents. In his untidy but efficient home lab, he concocted fuels for his hobby of model rocketry. For additional relaxation, he hustled his Corvair to friends' houses or youth organization meetings at Hyde Park Methodist Church on Sunday evenings.

Tower News room vibrated when the Editor Anne declared, "We really must make this deadline!" With Anne's guidance, their goal was reached. The editor felt the same confidence that she had had while she glided over Lake Michigan in her small sailboat. Awakening from her reverie, the dreamer remembered Quill and Scroll. Its president emitted a yelp, leaped up and raced for the door, which was a fitting exit for this Thalian member.

Picnic At Lesourdsville Ends Class Activities

Walt Hogg

Banging on the Tower News coke machine in desperation for "Dr. Pepper's," Sports Editor Walt Hogg was "appalled" as the frantic deadline night approached. After "going berserk" in Room 12, he consumed most of the refreshments at German Club. Although he confessed his inability to master the Germanic tongue, he revelled in his unopposed position as sergeant-at-arms. His future in medicine and journalism was heightened by a course at Ohio State.

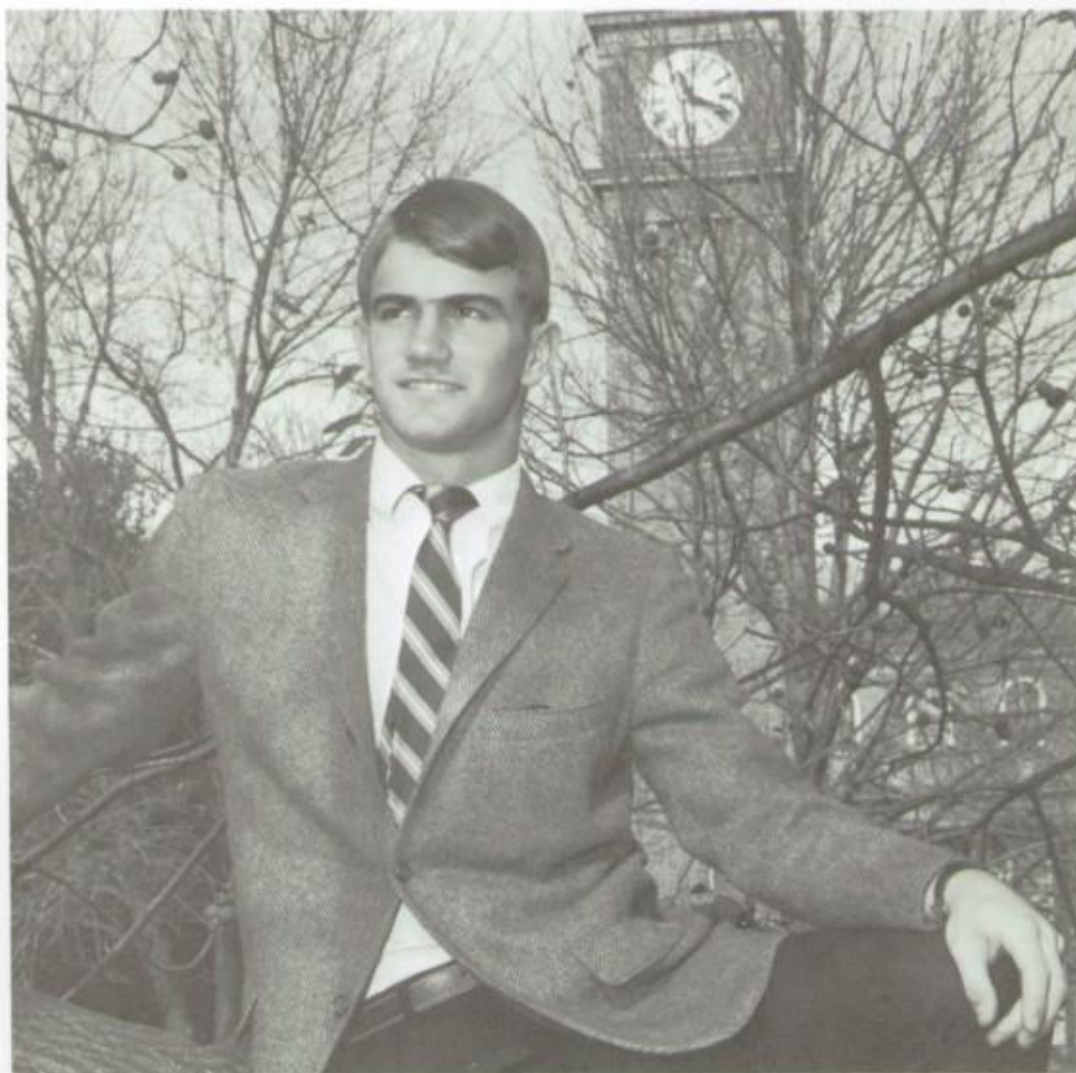

Cindy Draggoo

"Mom always liked you better" rang out Withrow's own Dickie Smothers, Cindy Draggoo. Painting pictures of landscapes and enrolling in art contests dominated Cindy's after-school hours. Sketching figures with ice skates and drawing daisies on walls balanced this artist's serious studies in Advanced Placement English. The finishing touch was etched on her own portrait as she bounded over the wall into the circle of Dux Femina.

Class of '68 Heads All Publications

Don Good

Selling candied apples to hungry Tigers at football games enabled Senior Class President Don Good to campaign for needed class funds. Besides being president, he found time to volunteer his help as Publicity Chairman for the local teen center. Also active in sports, he achieved membership in the lettermen's Tiger Club. Don's election to the Bi-racial Council gave him the chance to discuss actual student problems concerning race.

Pat Ross

Strawberry blonde hair and freckles were Pat's trademarks around Withrow. Driving a little red MG to school was not hindered by a broken thumb acquired while playing forward on the girls' hockey honor team. Pat's summer days were spent out-of-doors camping in the wilderness whenever the chance arose. Patty's homemade motor bike with a lawn mower engine easily transported her in after-school moments to her various activities.

Dave Cameron

Dave Cameron's first lap through the halls of Tigertown began when he signed with the marching band and the orchestra. Music making was also his summer occupation as he blew some tunes on his trombone at Montreal's Expo '67. Picking up the pace of his marathon, Dave won letters in both cross country and swimming. His being elected vice president of the band helped him to achieve his goal of stepping into the circle of Sigs.

Jane Glover

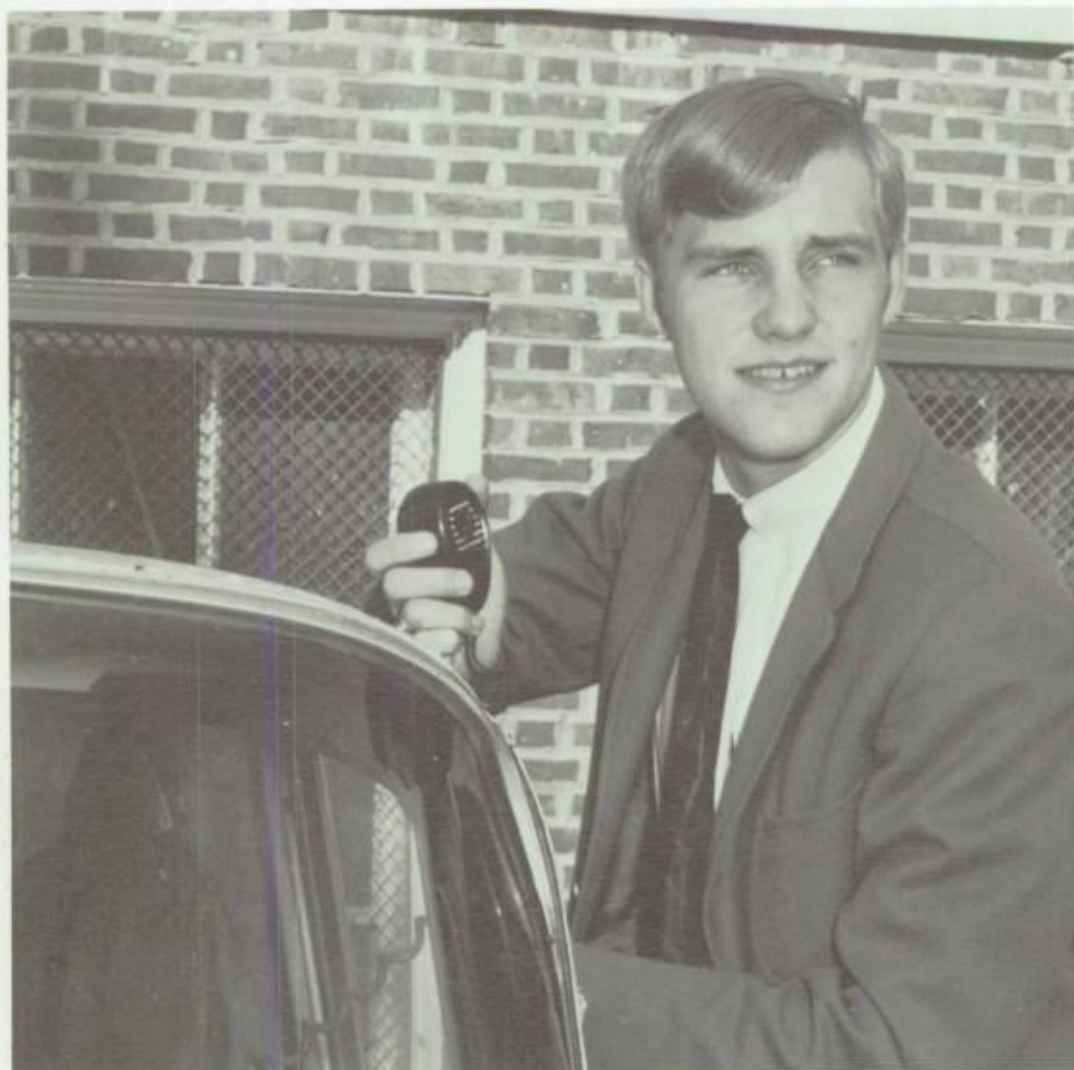

Often seen scurrying down the halls of Withrow was Dux Femina's freckle-faced president, Janie Glover. A whirlwind of action, she breezed through a daily schedule, which included playing flute for band and orchestra, writing sports for Tower News, and working in Mrs. Boswell's office. During the summer, Jane regenerated her supply of energy by scaling mountains at a camp in New York. Indoors or out, Jane was the sign of a Tiger in her activities.

Nineteen Students Merit Cum Laude In November

Chris Wheat

Shadows in the deserted corridor lengthened while in the Annual Art room one lone staff executive designed lay-outs, measured copy or corrected defective pages. As editor of the Art Staff, Chris Wheat strived to gain National Honors for the yearbook. Participation in basketball as a guard and a third baseman on the baseball team gave him the traits of a keen sportsman. His thirst for competition attained for Chris a Sigma Gamma pin.

Kathy Westermann

"No, Miss Richmond! They can't do that!" protested Annual Lit Editor Kathy Westermann, as she clenched her fists and stamped her foot in disgust at a number-one rival, the Art Staff. Shrieks of joy, proudly-worn emblems and now wilted corsages exhibited her role in Cum Laude and Scribblers. Accentuating Kathy's high school accomplishments was a trip to Europe, which heightened her determination in discovering people and their differing cultures.

Dux Sponsor Popcorn Sales To Boost Treasury

Steve Hasel

Choruses of goodbyes reached counselor Steve Hasel as he left the camp. Although a summer of hard work was ended, he again devised new projects. As Student Council President, Steve assisted committees with an introductory pamphlet for sophomores. While managing the Student Store, he made graphs for Advanced Placement Math. Steve spent weekends, however, watching and participating in sports events or sharing pizzas with his friends after basketball games.

Cindy Malora

Volunteering to design Grecian doorways was just one of the things that kept Cindy Malora busy. In Red Cross, as acting chairman for the Cincinnati Chapter, she volunteered for Project G.A.P., Guiding Appalachian People. For five weeks Cindy taught people to care for themselves. If Cindy were not sitting in on meeting of Art Club of Folksinging, she was contemplating her future as a teacher. Dux called; Cindy was ready.

Coaches Generate Enthusiasm For A New Pep Club

Don Jennings

While settled snugly in the wing chair in his livingroom, Don flew to Moscow, Bangkok, New York and Washington. These distant destinations were reached via his short wave receiver. Radio was not the only outlet for Don's attraction to electronics. This fascination led him to membership in a radio oriented Explorer Post and a Model Rocket Club. For Don's exacting field, his sound belief was that self-confidence succeeds.

Helen Hummel

To Helen Hummel a nondescript mass of clay or blank canvas held great allurements. Her love of art, however, could not dim her drive for other activities, including sewing her school clothes, doing European history assignments, or trekking to Mt. Adams. Helen's summers were comprised of sailing in Michigan and sketching scenery. A yearning for novel activities led to the most unique experience of her Withrow career — a call to Dux Femina.

Mistletoe Sales Add Green To Twelfth Grade Funds

Mike Cahall

Withrow's corridors, animated with throngs of scurrying students, only served to accentuate the serenity of Sigma Gamma's Mike Cahall. Even while strumming on his guitar and returning a tennis serve, Mike remained a determined young man, who disliked people without ambition. His own causes included helping fellow students with assignments, practicing the oboe, adding his voice to church choir and maintaining his Cum Laude average.

Becky Renshaw

A bolted lunch, a jostled walk, an electrified class and a football game, meant Friday for Beckles, although Fridays were not her only busy days. On Thursday afternoon winning first place in swimming sidestroke for form gave Withrow's girls' swimming team the needed points for conquest. As popcorn chairman for Dux Femina, Becky was busy in the front hall after school selling warm morsels to satisfy the appetites of famished seniors and underclassmen.

Stars Work For Last Performance In "Sounds"

Mark Warrington

Mark's blond hair and brawny figure enabled the crowd to identify him as he completed a drum-roll in the Tigers' Marching Band. A previous football injury prevented his appearance on the field in a black and orange jersey. Instead he used his energy camping in Canada or playing hockey and soccer. Hoping to continue his education at a Canadian University, Mark tackled his favorite subjects, which included social economics and chemistry.

Maggie Shreve

"I forgot the pants to my Smothers Brothers' costume and had five minutes to get on stage!" Maggie recited her latest escapade as she skipped to a Senior Class meeting where, as secretary, she scattered jokes among the minutes. It was no joke when Daisy Chain tapped her, and her eyes sparkled when she described that night. Anyone who caught Maggie long enough to ask, would have found her philosophy of life to be, "Leave 'em laughing."

Bob Burchard

Is Paris Burning? and Macbeth featured in Bob Burchard's reading choices. Probing the unknown, he also read about today's dilemmas, such as unidentified flying objects. At Latin Club meetings he liked to discuss the writings of Caesar and Cicero, claiming Latin blended literature and history into one. Accepting the challenge of chemistry and physics, Bob explored the realm of science to be prepared to study pharmacy in college for a medical career.

Cheryl Duncan

Suddenly, there was silence as the "Dux Wheel of Fortune" spun around and landed on Cheryl Duncan's name. Her winning was not a matter of Chance. The odds had to be in favor of this Cum Laude member who discussed Rome in Latin Club and defended Hamlet's sanity in Advanced Placement English. Cheryl's desire to write plays and perform in them made the speculators notice as the "Wheel" indicated she was one of Withrow's top thirteen girls.

Sale Of Pep Buttons Boosts School Spirit

Isabel Silveira

Olive-complexioned, petite, Brazilian, Isabel, was the third student from the American Field Service. Riverboat stories and minstrel entertainment came to life for Isabel by the showboat "Majestic," which appealed to her jazz and dramatic tastes. Becoming a member of Folk-singing club offered a foot-stamping music and scrubboard harmony. Following a year of living with an American family, Isabel gained an insight into our country's culture.

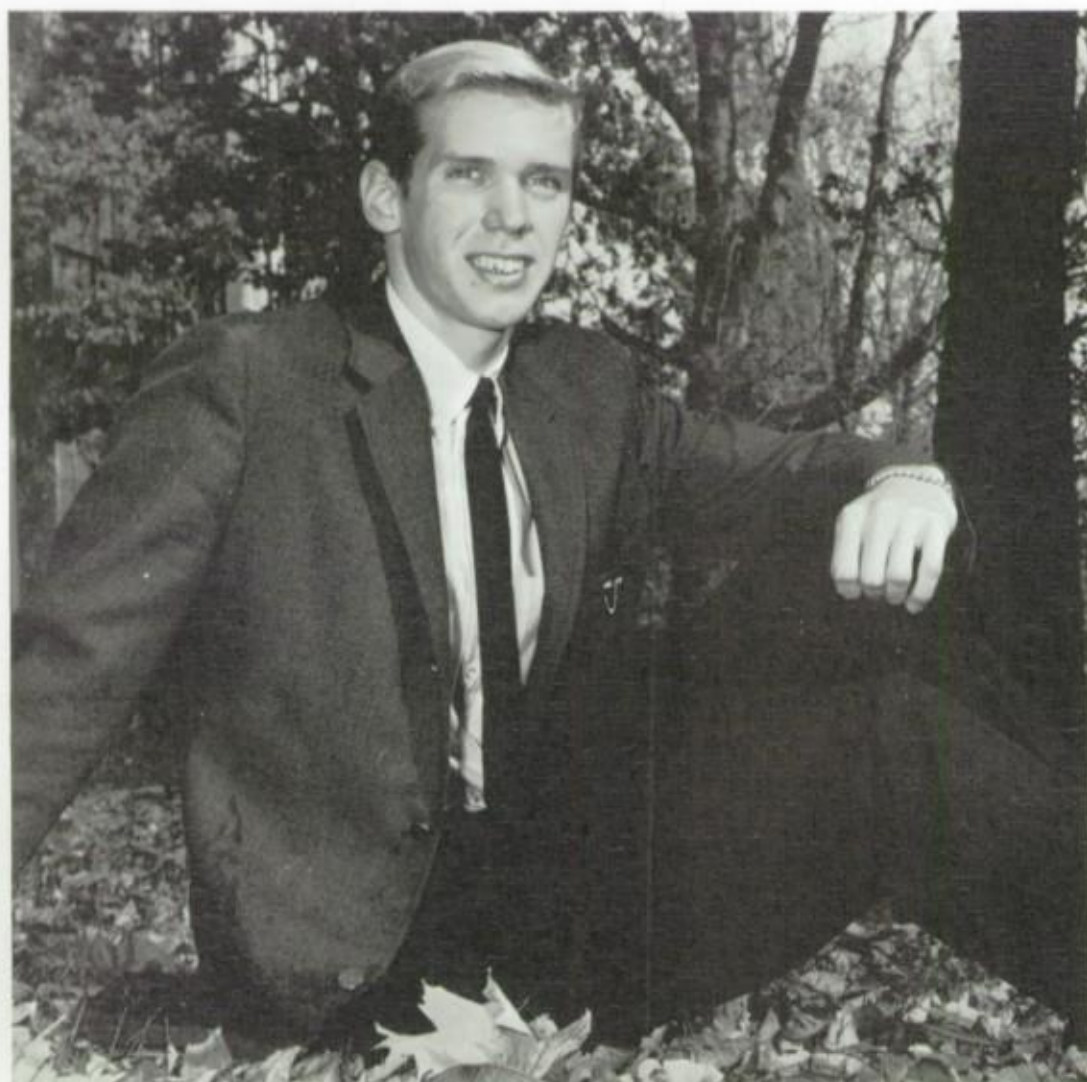

Sharon Perkinson

From Room 150, a voice blended with Senior Choir, yet when heard, it resounded with the authority of an officer. The voice belonged to Sharon Perkinson. Being in Madrigal and Folk Singing Club made it clear that she could entertain many audiences, including those at the "Sounds of Withrow." Her talents, however, were not limited to music; as head majorette Sharon displayed both twirling techniques and enthusiasm.

Twelve Years Culminate In Graduation

Bruce Rasmussen

Left-over kinetic energy from Advanced Physics forced Bruce Rasmussen into the top position as varsity captain for the Withrow Mermen. Seen towering over his classmates, Bruce regularly attended as Sergeant-of-Arms, Student Council and Folk Club meetings. As President of the Senior Band, Bruce combined co-ordination from Cross-Country and track practices with a steady beat to succeed in having a drum solo in the "Sounds of Withrow."

Royalty 1967-68

Tissue and construction paper crowns, identification bracelets, and long stemmed red roses befitting a queen were sought by the royalty candidates of 1967-68. Amidst a jungle-like setting at Homecoming, the Sacred Mushroom played while Sharon Perkinson and Bruce Rasmussen received the most votes for queen and king. One month later, a carnival atmosphere was the background for Janie Hughes' election as queen of Tigertown Twirl, at which the students danced to records belonging to the Hi Fi's. Adding the final link in the year's royalty circle, couples at the turnabout dance Cardiac Capers elected Maggie Shreve for queen while dancing to the music of the Di-tallions, a group composed primarily of juniors and seniors at Withrow.

Cum Laude Taps Top Scholars

Cum Laude has two-hundred and forty chapters in the United States. Having gained a charter in 1958, Withrow became the third public high school in Cincinnati to tap students with high academic achievement. Seniors with a 3.56 average in at least eight academic units were chosen and in the spring the faculty tapped students having a 3.36 average in at least eleven academic units. The annual banquet in April initiated the members as Withrow finished its tenth year of Cum Laude participation.

Radiant smiles reflected the mood of newly-tapped Cum Laude members.

1968 Senior Popularity Poll

Music of the Di-tallions at Cardiac Capers paused. From the boys' gym, the Tower News staff began to read verses containing names of Popularity Poll members. The winners, selected in senior homerooms in early February, were given copies of their poems while the girls in each category received long stemmed carnations. Although several of the categories were omitted this year, eleven titles remained. Seniors who gained the titles demonstrated that Withrow held a variety of people within its student body.

Most Vivacious: Clint Patton and Diane Williams.

Brainiest: Don Jennings and Carol Jackson.

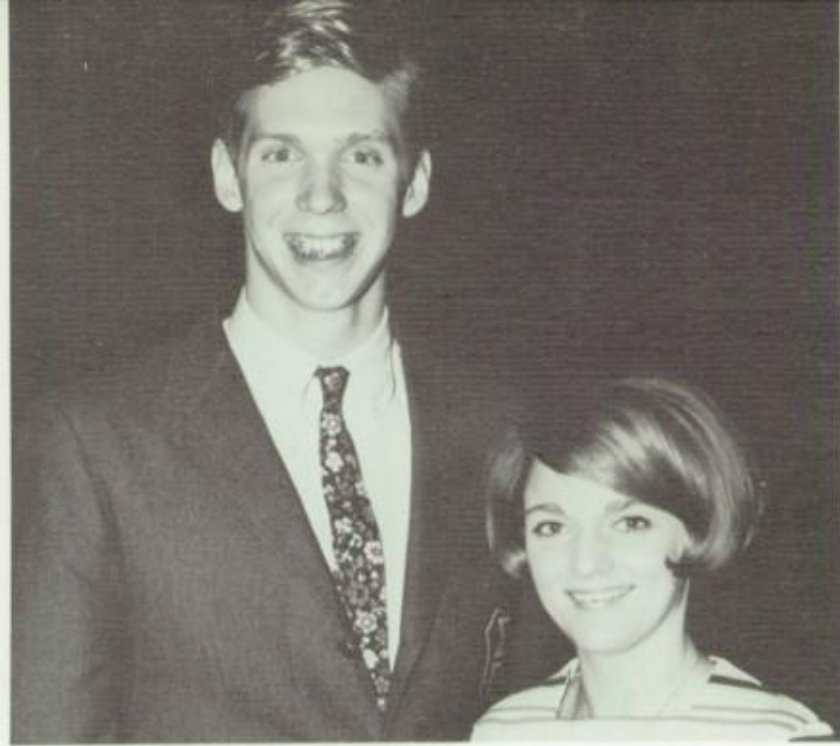

Most School Spirited: Alexander Washington and Paula Bess.

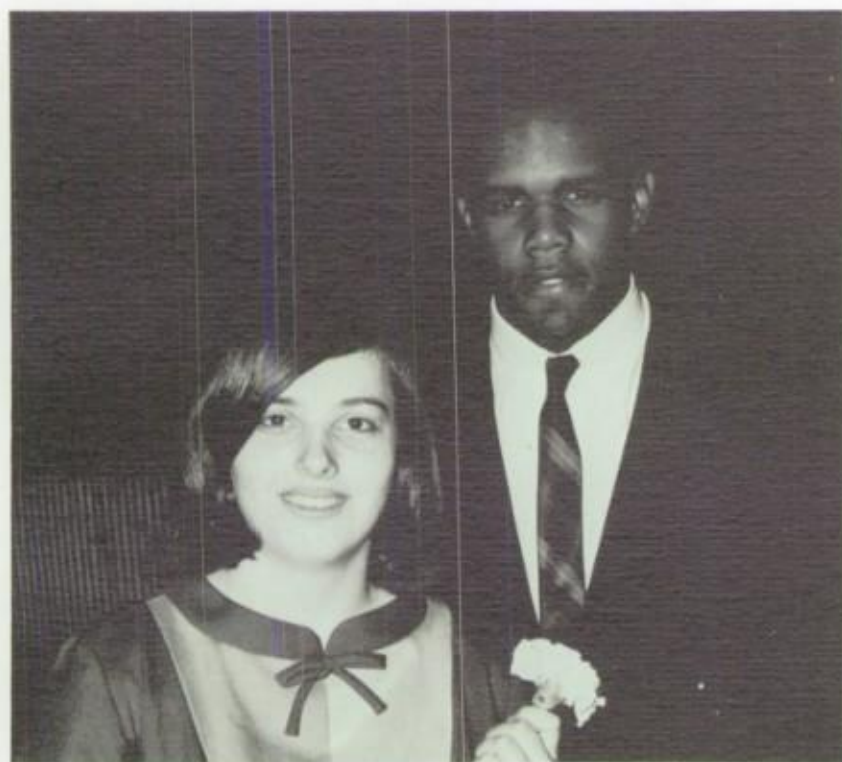

Most Talented: Bryant Smith and Brenda Jackson.

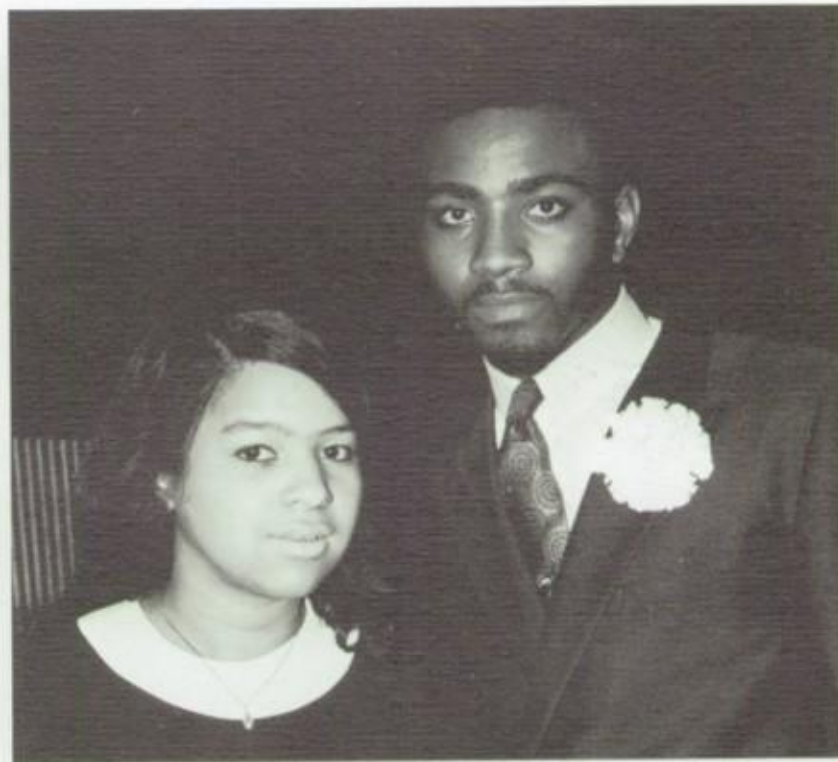

Friendliest: Bruce Rasmussen and Janie Hughes.

ACTIVITIES

ACTIVITIES

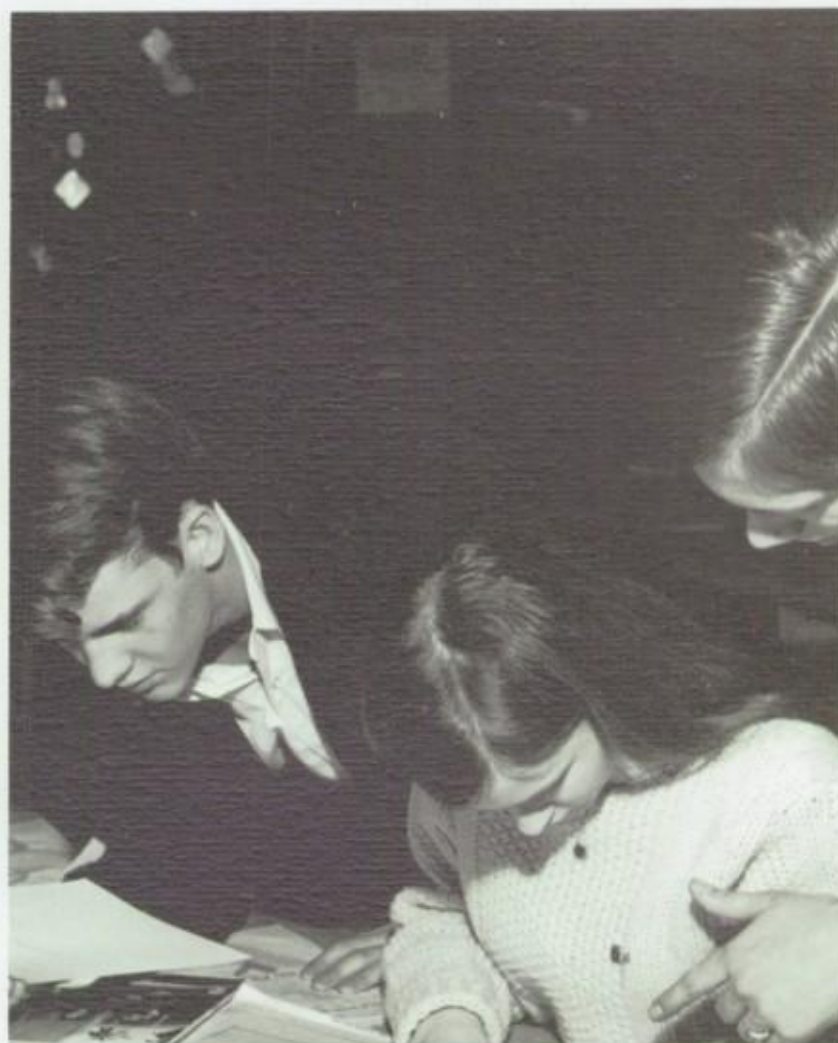

Mr. Salie explained the mechanics of the National Cash Register to his students.

Chaucer Yields To Social And Artistic Events

Multitudes of extra-curricular activities were available to Withrow students. From Tower News representatives and reporters to lunchroom help, all the clubs and organizations functioned in order to enrich the school year. Bake sales, candy sales, and booths at Tigertown Twirl added funds to each group's treasury. Frequently, the money was used to finance field trips or to present scholarships to deserving members of the organization at the year's end. For the first time, each club was required to submit a charter to Student Council in order to maintain a good standing. Musical and academic organizations staged assemblies, while the talents of every group were compounded in the "Sounds of Withrow."

Front hall bake sales were greeted by hosts of ravenous students.

"We'll work till midnight until the Annual is finished."

Backstage, "Sounds" participants broke tension with nervous laughter.

Senior High Student Council

President Steve Hasel guided Withrow's Student Council through a year of service projects for the school. Although the sponsorship of a foreign exchange student was the most important program, the representatives also collected canned goods for the needy families of the community at Thanksgiving. Members spread Christmas cheer by giving away candy canes in the lunchroom before the holidays. Sales, including candy bars and school buttons, financed the three other major projects of a Junior Prom, the publishing of a student handbook, and scholarship grants for seniors. Three-year veterans were honored at Award's Night as Council completed a year of service to Withrow.

Screams of inspiration such as "Deadline tonight!" resounded from Room 12 as editor Anne Linnenburg strained to get the paper to press. Annual Art Staff

"Picture retakes here," read the sign on Annual Art Staff's door. Chris Wheat and Mr. Mueller piloted the staff to meet deadlines while they planned the Homecoming Dance and the Tigertown Twirl booth. Concluding a year of work was the Annual Banquet and the debut of a new yearbook.

After promoting the Homecoming Dance and a fortune-telling booth for Tigertown Twirl, members were assigned homerooms to supervise during the February Sales Campaign. The staff finished the year with the delivering of The Sign of the Tiger to waiting students.

Office Help

Library Help

Girls from the Neighborhood Youth Corps filled positions in the Withrow library while some girls left study halls to work in the offices. Both groups performed time-consuming tasks, including filing and typing, while gaining experience from their contact with other Tigers.

Tower News and Annual representatives had the responsibility of stimulating students to purchase one of the publications. In all, they sold eight hundred bi-monthly papers and twenty-one hundred annuals during the course of the year.

Senior Band

Whistles shrilled, trumpets blared and majorettes saluted. These plus the melodic notes of one hundred and twenty musicians comprised the 1968 Withrow Senior Band. Under the direction of Mr. William Parke, the musical troop performed at Lincoln's birthday celebration at Gilford School, presented the Annual Spring Concert and played their finale at graduation exercises.

Cast Song

It's time for the curtain to fall on our show.
We say thanks to you all.
You must know that we gave you our best —
“The Sounds of Withrow.”

And now since we must say goodnight but before we dim all the lights,
Meet the cast of our show for tonight —
“The Sounds of Withrow.”

We'll call them all back;
you can give them a hand.
We'll start with the vocals.
They're at your command; so now let's give them a call,
And we'll bring you the skits; they have added a lot of spice to the show.

So let's here your applause good and loud
And we'll bring on the dancers for you and remember the band.
So this is our show —
“The Sounds of Withrow, 1968.”

ATHLETICS

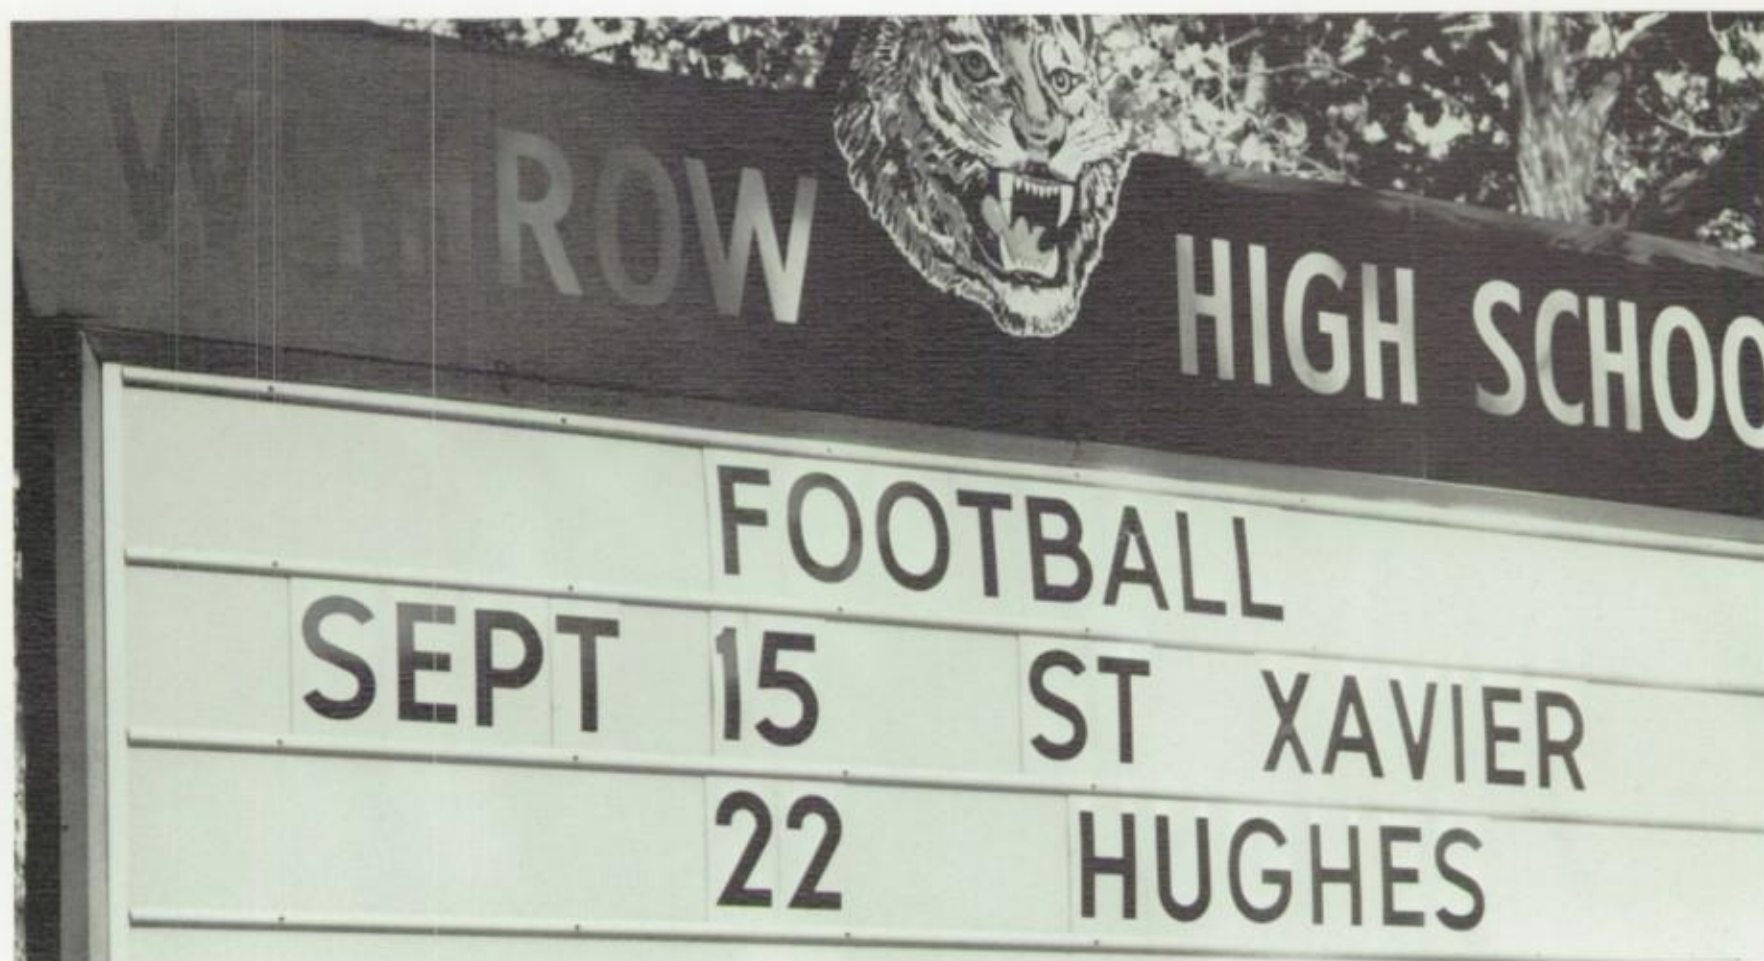

ATHLETICS

Anxious junior high football players surrounded Coach Rusche as he planned the next play.

Tiger Champs Score In Twenty Sports

Autumn, winter, and spring abounded with athletic activities. September brought a new season for the football team while other boys began training for Cross Country. G.A.A. members practiced archery, attended hockey meets, and then looked ahead to such winter sports as tumbling, volleyball, and basketball. Meanwhile, the Reserve Basketball Team captured the P.H.S.L. Championship, while the varsity moved ahead to compete in the tournament. By March, many athletic-minded students had polished their baseball, tennis, and golf skills in preparation for spring tryouts and city-wide contests. Withrow, however, offered more than seasonal sports. Throughout the year, many participated in swimming, weight-lifting, and bowling activities.

Schedules for all Withrow games were publicized on the front lawn marquee.

Enthusiasm Adds Momentum For Football Games

Patterns for key plays were drilled by varsity coach Marv Merritt.

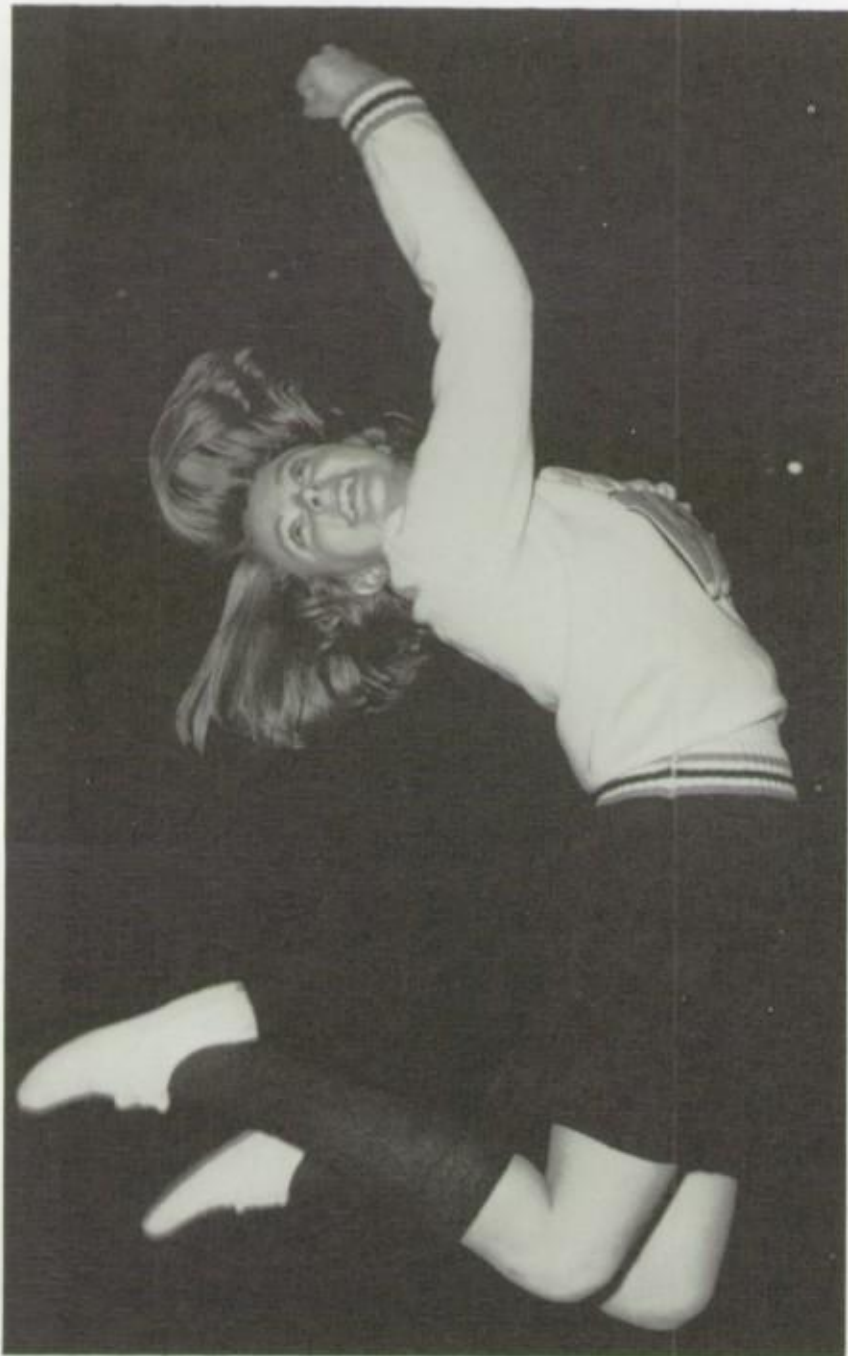

Majorette Karen Wright snapped to attention during halftime.

Energetic toes tapped out cadence as the Drill Team and Tiger Marching Band ended halftime.

Shirley McFall cheered as Withrow made a last-minute touchdown.

Offensive power was but one of Coach Marv Merritt's problems as the Tiger "eleven" scored only thirty points in their first seven games. The defense held their opponents scoreless in each of Withrow's three wins. Ending the season, the gridmen used teamwork as they dealt back-to-back white-washes to Taft and Western Hills Public High Schools.

In defense of his team, Coach Merritt argued against a wrong decision.

With Aiken on the move, the Tiger defense attacked, yielding short yardage.

Tiger spirit exploded in the band.

Color guard demonstrated precision.

Calisthenics preceded each Tiger pigskin showing. After these warm-ups the Withrow Marching Band paraded onto the grid-iron. Their performance was highlighted as the color guard presented the colors for the "Star Spangled Banner." As the band hustled off the field, the cheerleaders began chanting their lines. Captains met on the "fifty" to determine which squad would kick and which would receive. Offense and defense squads then took their positions for the kick. The punter prepared to kick; the drums sounded a stirring roll. As the pigskin soared, another game began.

Dan Byrd was downed on the "fifteen."

Becky Renshaw lectured the mascot.

Inexperience with equipment cost the reserve Bengals victories in their first two outings, but they broke lose after these two. Outstanding victories over Taft and Western Hills were engineered by quarterback co-captain Tom Ferone. Coaches Hlad and Caddle were forced to convert a halfback into a quarterback for the last two games as injuries plagued the team. Paul DeVise, the other co-captain, then took over as his defensive squad scored the only touchdown in the final Courter game. This strong defense led the reserves to a 4-2-1 record and a second place finish.

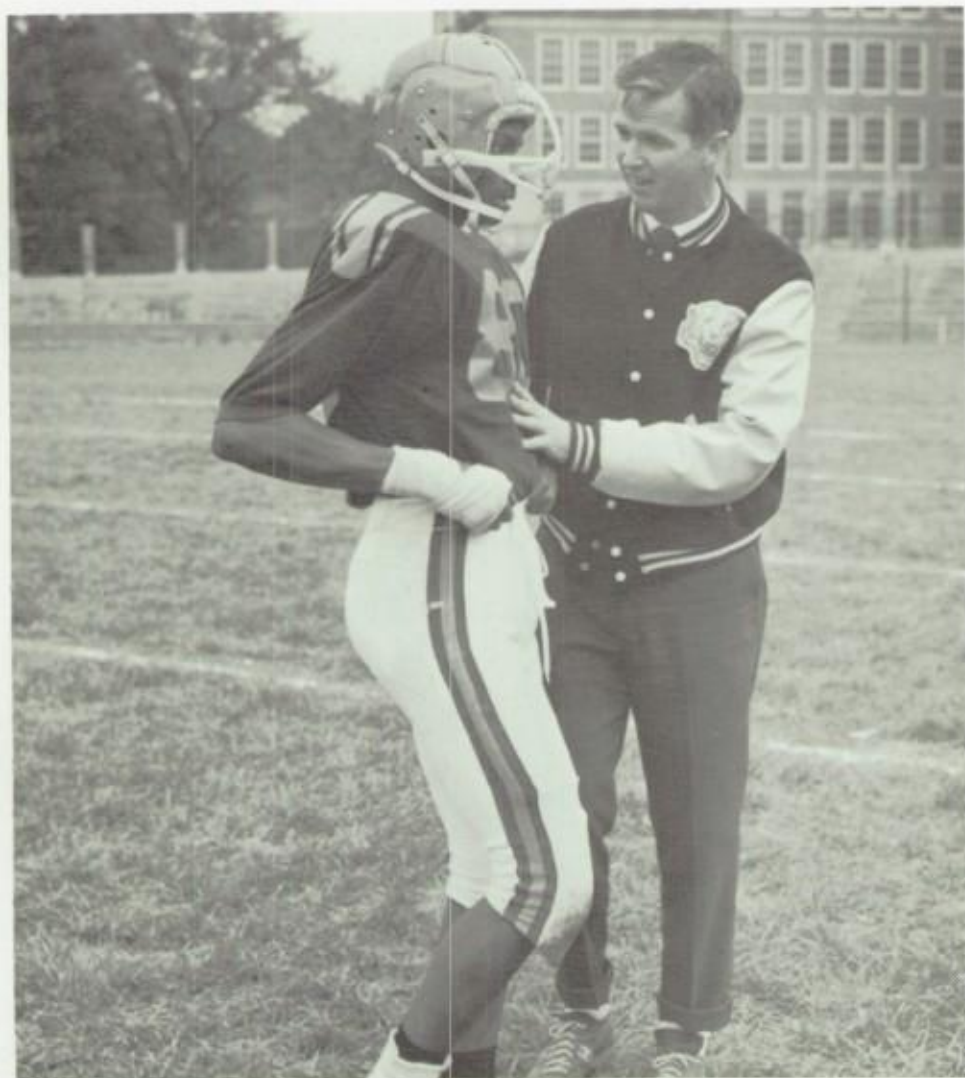

Halfback Ron Dixon romped to a touchdown against Taft.

Cross Country

Cross country, headed by Coach Tom Chambers, consisted of a relatively short season. Coach Chambers began training his team as soon as school began in the fall. He trained them with his philosophy of "The only way to win is to work." Runners undertook a rigid schedule of training, consisting of running before and after school as well as on weekends. Mike Trester and Kevin Johnson led the team from the first meet on September seventeen to the District Tournament on October twenty-one, in which they both earned gold medals and an invitation to the Regional Tournament at Avon Fields.

Coach Tom Chambers led the Withrow Cross Country team to fourth place in the PHSL District meets, held in Avon Fields, yielded high places for harriers Mike Trester, Kevin Johnson, and Jerry Porter. Rope jumping was added to the program to strengthen legs and to develop balance for long downhill sprints. Traditional running to Oakley and Ault Park was avoided to prevent painful shin-splints caused by running on hard surfaces.

Tigers Rank As City's Last Undefeated Squad

Kazoos sparked a Tiger rally as "Smitty" returned to his directing duties.

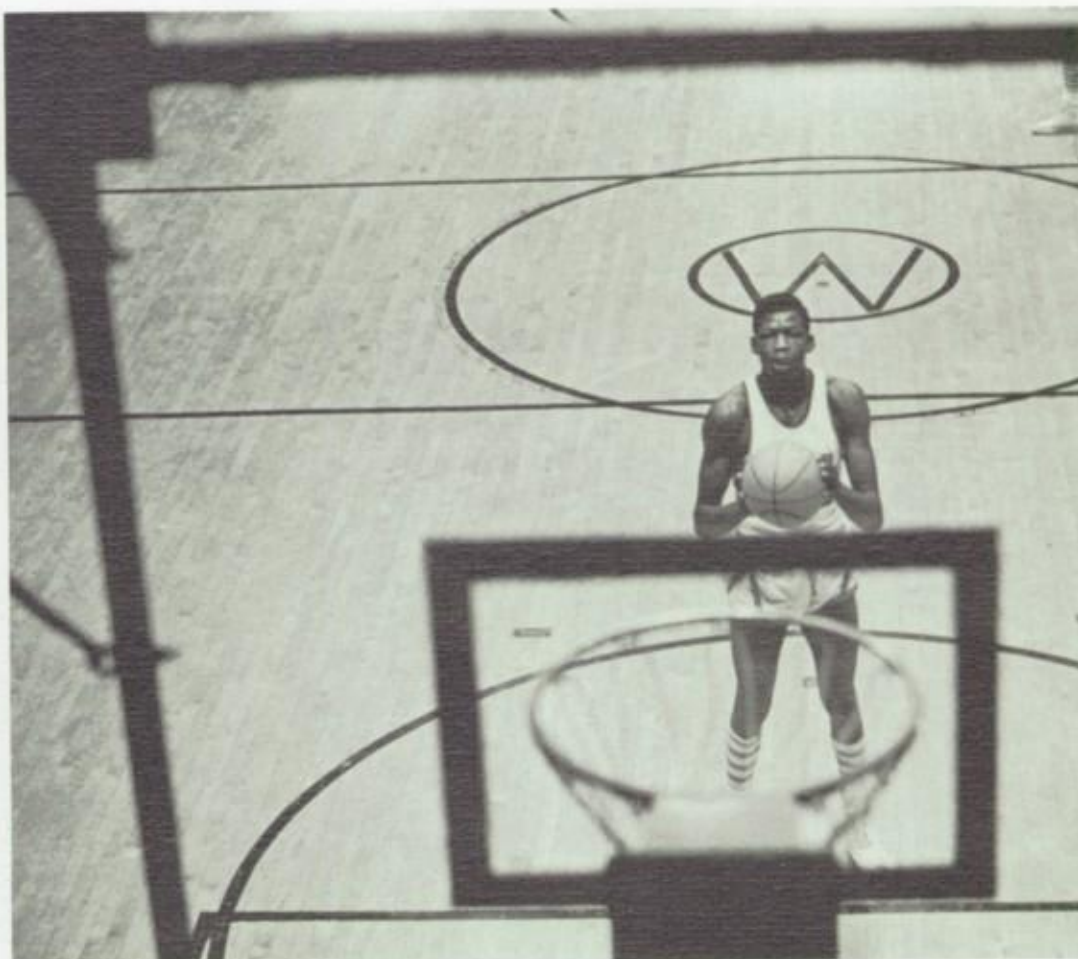

Tactics of a full court press were explained during a brief time-out.

Concentration was etched on the face of center Bill Hawk as he prepared his free throw.

Strength under the boards, coupled with the desire to hold their '67 league championship, motivated our Tiger squad in their initial encounters. Six feet and four inches of incentive comprised our front line of senior George Norwell and rookies Denny Deurmitt and Bill Hawk. This combination also hit 218 of our 371 points, nearly 60%, in our first five victories. Tight non-league victories opened the '68 season as the Bengal "five" downed Madeira and Anderson by a total of five points. Easy wins over rivals Western Hills, Woodward, and Courter paved the way to an early league lead. Oak Hills ended our five-game winning streak as our varsity was the last city team to be defeated.

Holding first place in the Public High School League until the final games of the season, the Bengal courtmen displayed their ability against foes. Senior backcourtmen Don Good, Chris Wheat, and Clinton Patton rotated starting roles as ballhandlers for the team. In the pivot position, George Norwell and Reggie Fields intimidated their enemies while on defense and added to the scoring impetus that carried them to the District Tournament.

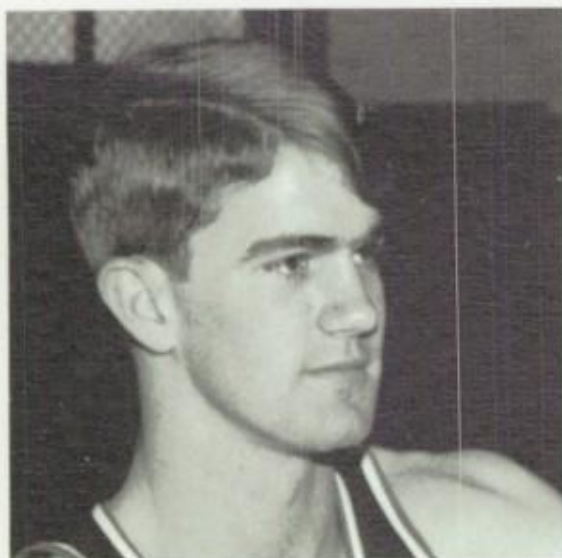

Western's Falcons swooped upon Ken Williams as he attempted last-minute drive.

Poor shooting cost Withrow's basketball team a Co-championship with Taft. The Bengals fell fourteen points below their average, shooting inaccurately. Tournament Tournament tensions mounted as the Tigers closed the regular season with a 13-4 record. Two defeats by Hughes and a three-point set-back by Taft dumped the squad into third place in the PHSL. City-wide coaches picked Withrow a pre-tourney fourth in the district. Amelia, the first Tiger foe, battled to the finish though they were toppled by five. Inspiration drove the Bengals to a come-from-behind victory over a strong Wyoming team. St. Xavier, in the quarter-finals, fell behind by four — the margin by which the Tigers won. Defeat by PHSL champ Taft sent the squad to the showers with a season record of 16-5.

Taft Downs Withrow In Tournament Semi-Finals

Tips by Duermit downed Amelia in tourney play.

Fouled in his drive, Wheat broke the tie with a three-point play.

Taft's full-court press brought a decisive victory to the Senators.

UC's Fieldhouse Sported District Bouts

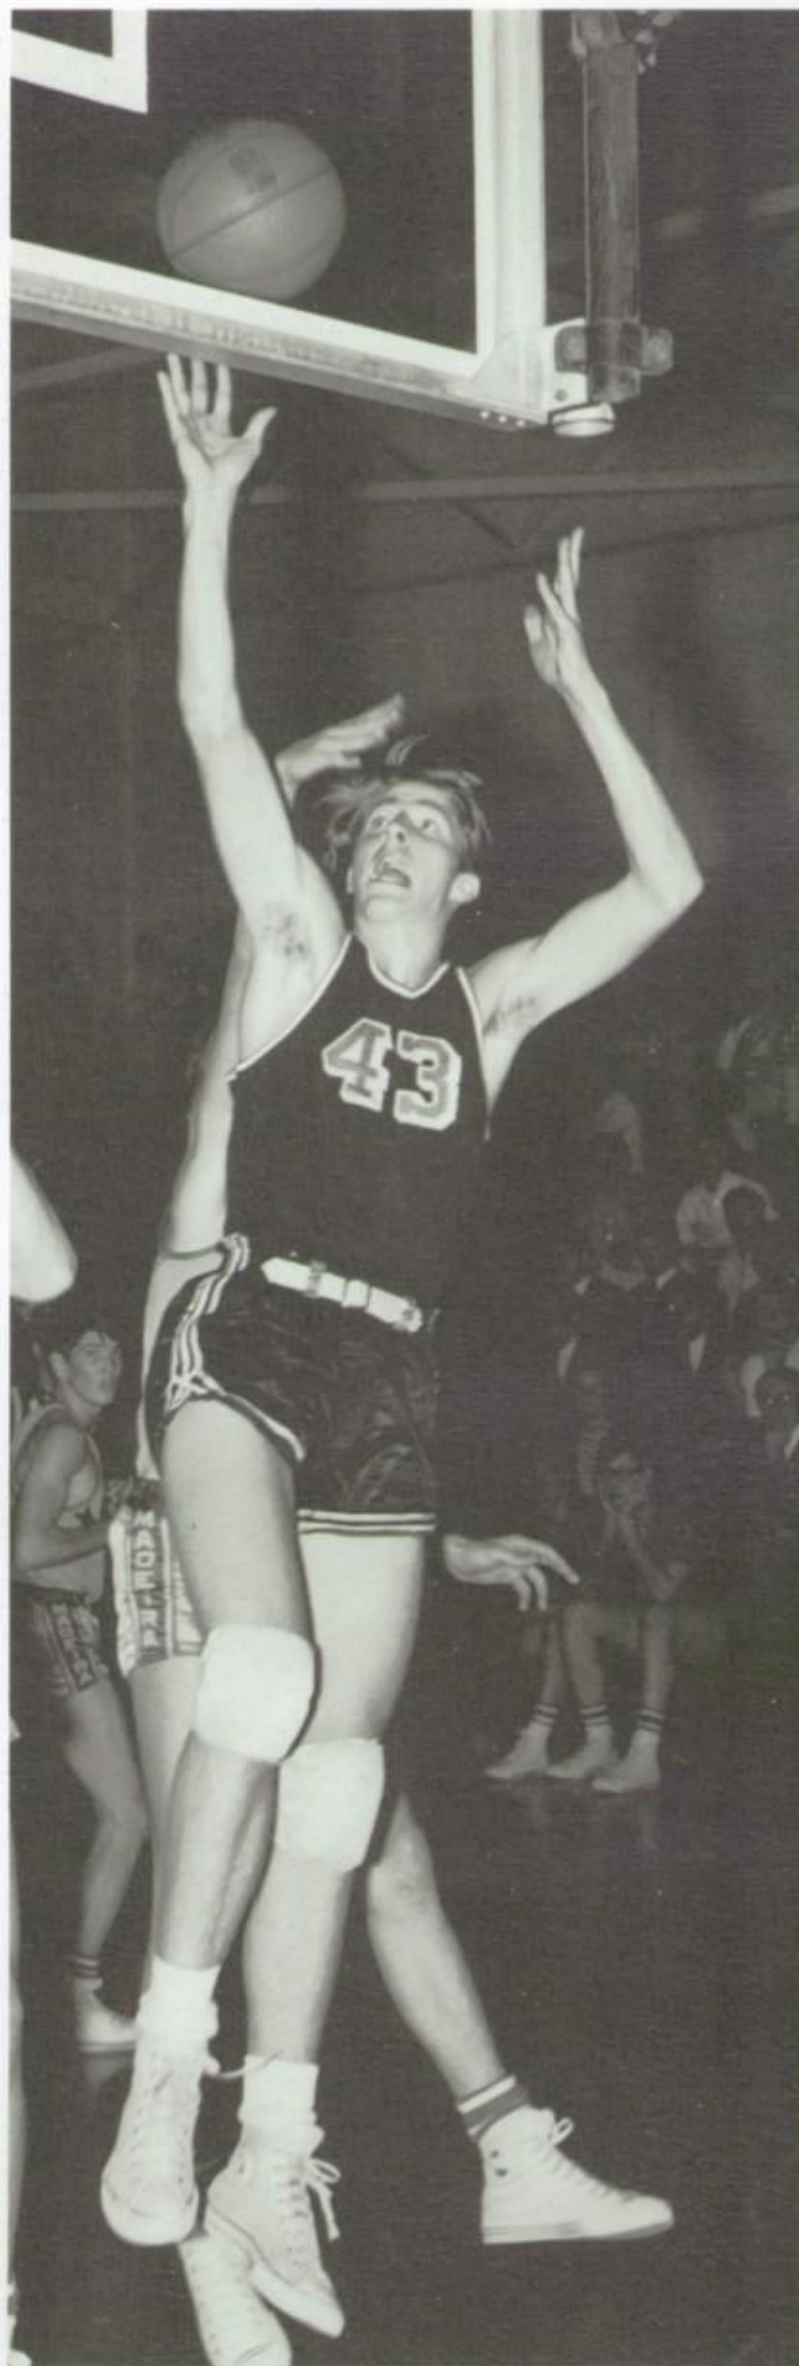

Moments of agony and ecstasy occurred often in a semi-final loss to Taft in tourney play.

Sixteen victories and only one loss were the results of a fourteen-man reserve squad. Coach Cadle's bombers ended the season by dumping Taft for their undefeated league finish. Hopes of a championship burned in the eyes of each player at the season's finale. Taft and Withrow boasted identical 12-0 league records at that point. Victory was the prize of a team effort as the Tiger kittens knocked the Senators by six. An average score of 54-43 showed a well balanced defense as Stroffregen scored, Orr rebounded, and Woods co-ordinated the offense. Coach Cadle claimed that the sole loss to Anderson was the best thing that happened to them, for the Tigers then romped to fifteen consecutive victories.

Right: Lay-ups canned by Stroffregen became a customary sight.

Hughes controlled the jump although Oldham soared high.

Fast-breaker Dixon drove to the basket for a quick "two."

Junior high basketball, coached by Mr. Dan Rusche, secured a third place finish in the PHSL. Yielding only five games, the Tiger Cubs won their bouts by an average of ten points. Aiken and Walnut Hills were each twice victorious over the Cubs as leads of seventeen points were felt. Four members from this year's team will return next year while the remaining Tiger Cubs will advance into positions on the senior high squad.

Powerful strokes in a medley pulled Jesse Love to a first place.

Coach James Niemann started the swimming season with a school of inexperienced mermen and a strict training schedule. As preparation for a District and two PHSL meets at the season's end, Coach Niemann held weekly intersquad meets as well as three-hour daily practices. The addition of seniors Bob Chisholm and Bruce Rasmussen from the Pepsi Marlins assured extra points for the Bengals. Bruce and Bob, named co-captains, represented Withrow at the District and State tournaments, finishing the season holding records of second and thirteenth, respectively.

Guided by the coaching talents of three-year veteran baseball Coach Tom Chambers, the Bengal diamondmen hit their way to a record of sixteen wins against nine defeats. Clinton Patton, top percentage batter, and a second baseman, powered the team to a third-place finish in the PHSL. Acting captain, Bill Gerth, at first base, and Don Good, shortstop, combined plays with Chris Wheat at third to build the defense against rival public high school teams.

Scorebook statistics determined starters for the next game.

Concentration on the opposition was the key to the Bengals' success.

Spurred by a season of sixteen wins and nine losses, the Bengal diamondmen faced Indian Hill and Moeller in the quarter finals of the city tournaments. Although plagued by illness, the rookie team was piloted by Coach Tom Chambers to a victory over Indian Hill and a defeat dealt by Moeller. The games, played at Schmidt Fields, were supported by parents who helped maintain the morale of the team.

Bogies Result In A Fourth Place PHS� Finish

J. Apgar, R. Seibert, N. Anderson, D. Collier, R. Pope.

Veteran coach Marv Merritt kept the varsity golf team in the swing as he readied the squad for matches against their opposing PHSL contestants. Captain Rocky Myers drove his '67 squad to a fourth place finish behind title-taker Walnut Hills. In the district "eighteen," Myers and Dean Collier landed low 37's, highlighted by Dean's hole-in-one on the fifth hole. Scores on the back nine, however, dropped the team from further regional high school competition.

Right: Knees bent, arms extended, Nick Anderson focused on his shot.

Darrell Henry sprang forward to gain important inches in the broad jump.

Varsity Bengal Cindermen began competition with a meet at the Knights of Columbus relays. The mile relay team, including juniors Ken Riley and Mike Trester, set a new record when they shaved the time of 3:34 minutes to 3:32.6. In the Public High School Invitational meet, the team placed second in competition. Head coaches Hlad and Barrett kept the team fit with nightly jaunts across the Withrow campus and the surrounding tracks and fields.

Tennis Team

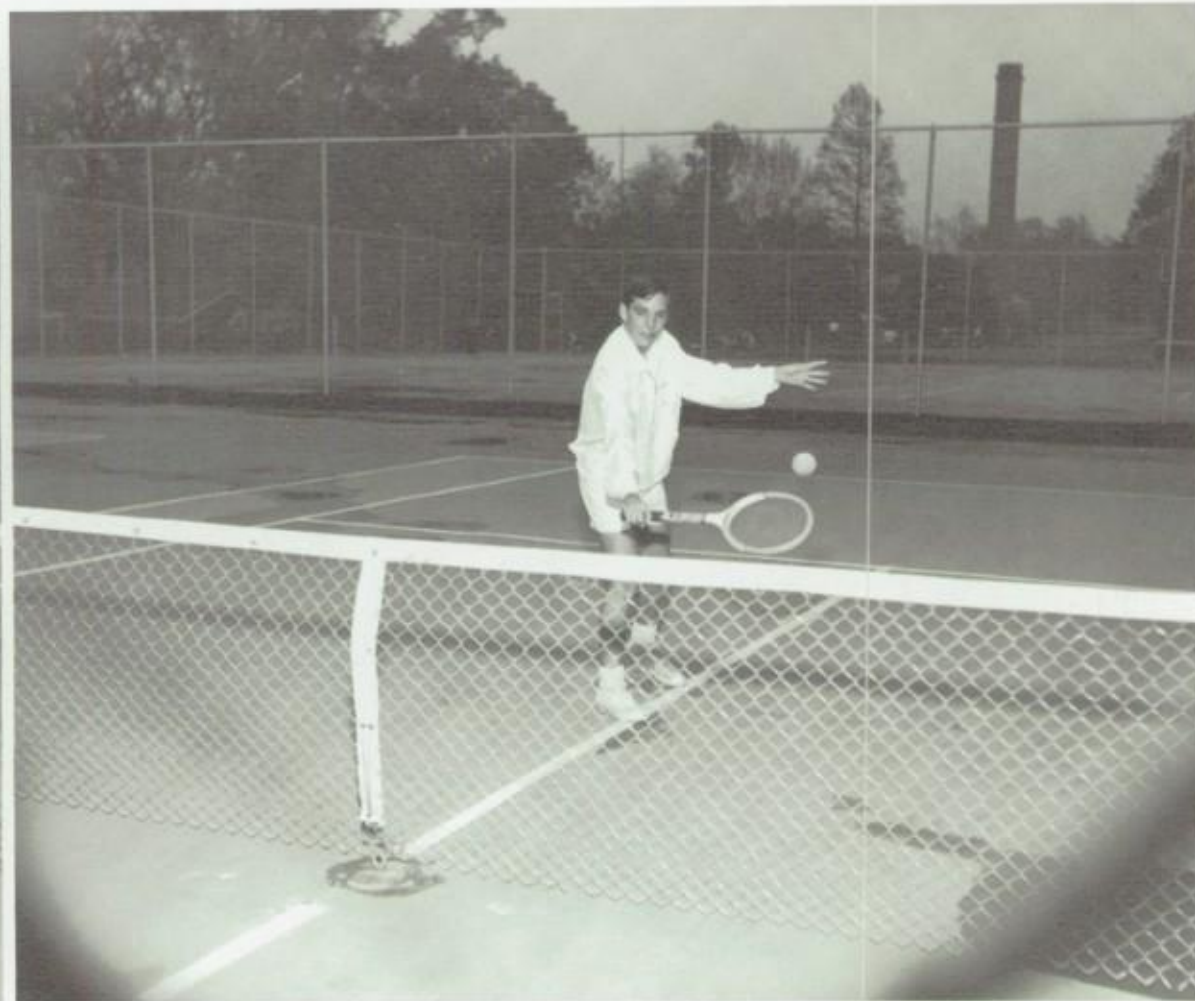

Bengal racketmen practiced under the seasoned eye of Coach Mather and once again captured first in the PHSL. With the return of several racketmen from last year's team, experience was brought to the new squad. Highlights of the season included the clinching defeat of Walnut Hills by one point for the League Championship and finally the winning of the coveted cup for District Champs. After the victories in the League and District competition, netmen George Mehl and Ron Lague represented the Withrow squad in the state singles match in Columbus.

Roger Lague worked strenuously to develop a powerful serve.

Plush stuffed animals, polished red apples, streamers from shakers, and raffle ticket stubs were reminiscent of the 1967-1968 Girls' Athletic Association. Designed to promote girls' sports, G.A.A. offered afterschool hours of hockey, archery, basketball, bowling, and tumbling. Swimmers donned tanksuits and bathing caps to participate in G.A.A. swim meets while Dance Club girls performed synchronized acrobatics. At a banquet dinner at the year's conclusion, the G.A.A. selected its Honor Girl and paid tribute to the girls winning certificates, charms, bracelets, and trophies.

Senior Dolphin Club

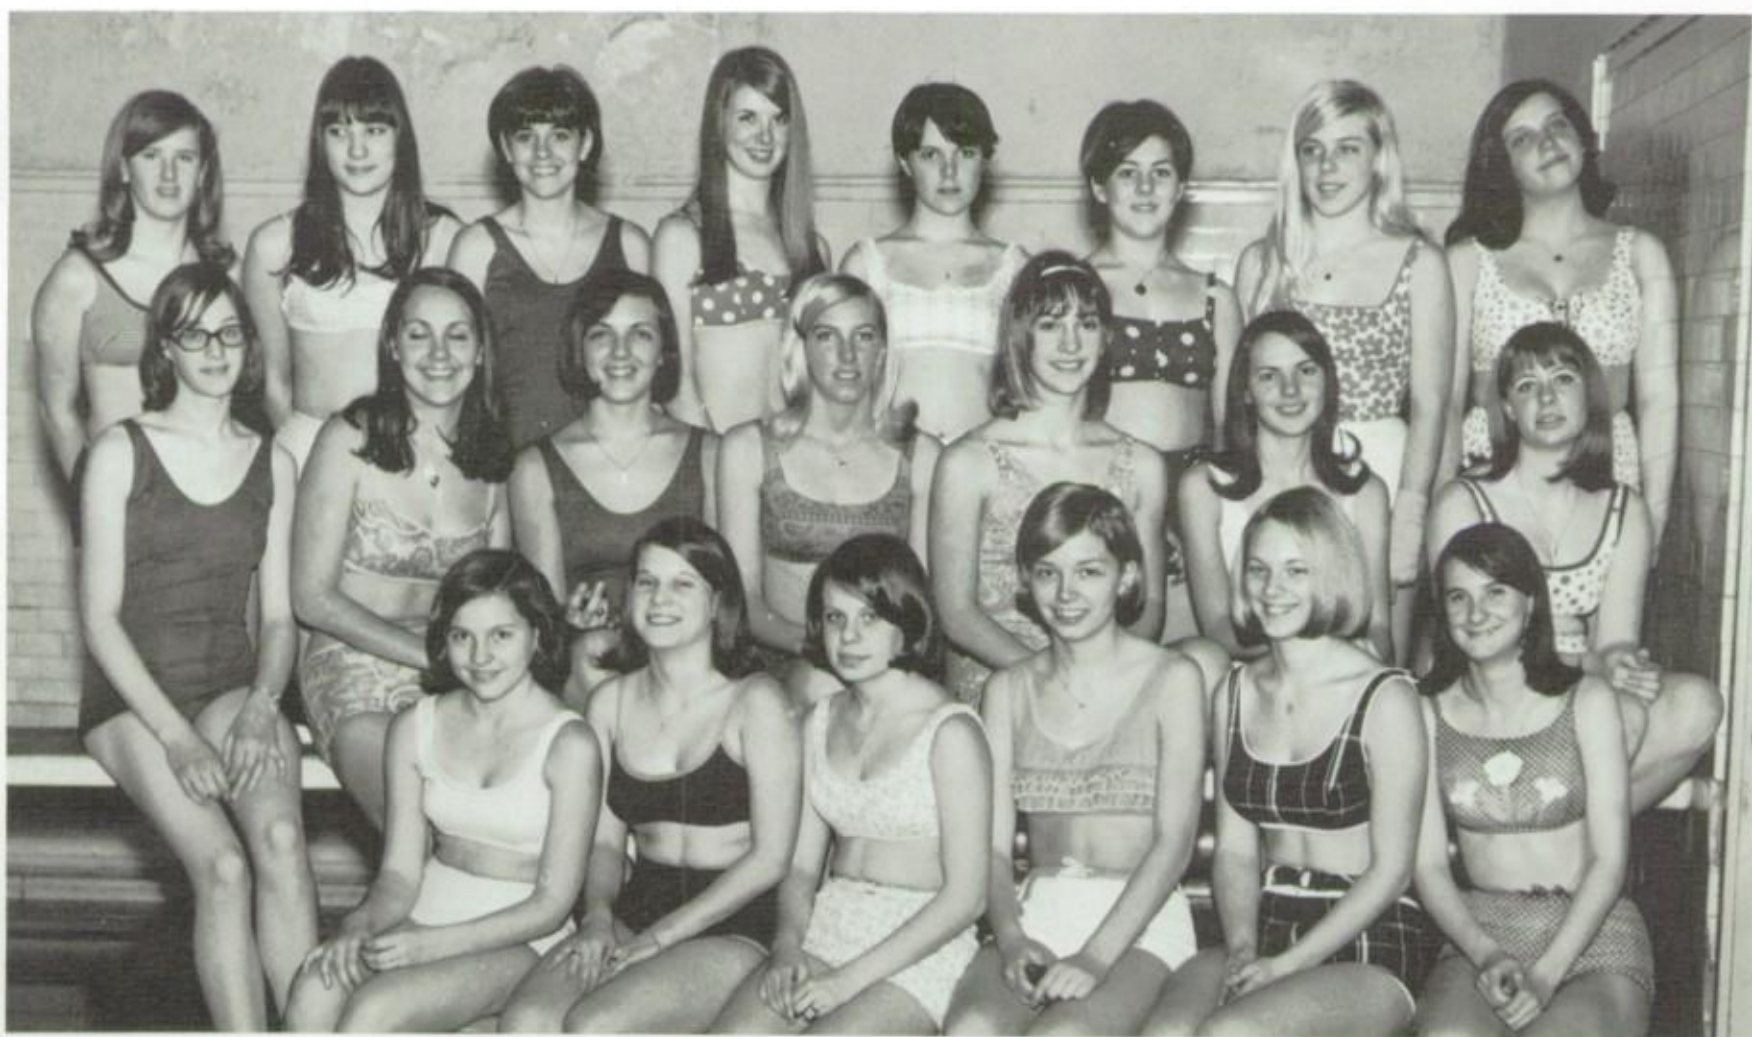

Shrieks of laughter and sounds of splashing echoed from the girls' swimming pool as Dolphin Club worked to finish the ability chart. Intra-school swimming meets on Thursday afternoons provided the opportunity for the swimmers to increase their skill. The year was climaxed by a day of swimming and fun at Coney Island Amusement Park.

Dance Club

Whirling towards their goal of muscle tone and gracefulness, Dance Club members leaped and spun to strains of classical or jazz music. Each Thursday afternoon, under the direction of Mrs. DeLyons, every girl exercised or put new dance steps to her favorite music. Intricate positions and the finer attributes of modern dancing were added to the girls' knowledge of public dancing.

Junior Leaders

Blue and green "pinnies" marked opposing soccer teams of seventh and eighth graders in G.A.A. These teams practiced twice a week to prepare the girls for play-day, at which they competed with teams from other schools. Headed by president

Edie Teetor, the club also offered volleyball, softball and individual sports, such as tumbling and tennis. Officiating at these events were Junior Leaders, ninth grade girls who met on Mondays to learn the skills needed to be a referee.

Juniors Earn Recognition And Reap Rewards

Gold rings with black stones and the inscription "Withrow High School, 1969" were the proud possessions of the members of the Junior Class. Anticipating their senior year, the class scheduled P.S.A.T. tests and worked towards recognition in Cum Laude, Dux Femina and Sigma Gamma. All eleventh grade students were required to enroll in American History and English, but science, business, and math courses were optional. Interpreting Macbeth and analyzing House of Seven Gables were standard tasks for English majors. Honors of Daisy Chain went to five junior girls as did the jobs of Girls' Week Representative while Vice-President of Student Council went to a boy.

SOPHOMORES

Advanced English, first offered in the sophomore year, required analytical minds.

Sophomores Adjust To Life In The Big School

Streaming in from six neighboring junior high schools were the nine hundred twenty-one members of the Sophomore Class. Adjustment to the responsibilities and competition of a large high school was the major task facing them. Memberships in band, choir, majorettes, Thalian Club and all other school activities were available to industrious sophomores. The position of secretary of Student Council was filled by a sophomore as were those of corresponding secretary of G.A.A. and treasurer of Folk Singing Club. Settling down to the routine of Withrow, sophomores enrolled in extra classes under the newly established credit system which required one more than the previous eighteen and three-fourths credits for graduation.

"Great mathematicians from little geometry students grow," mused Brooks Lavender.

Freshmen Head Junior High Popcorn Sale

Br-r-r-r! The bell blared day after day followed by a mad rush for classrooms, as freshmen scattered in different directions. Many torn and withered schedules were used at this time to reassure the owner of his next bell. Each freshman reported to his numerous classes in best behavior, knowing a bad record would ban him from Tiger Teens. Tiger Teens, a dance which was held four times a year, was open to freshmen at Withrow, Eastern Hills, and Lyon Junior High. As the year drew to a finale, leading freshmen found themselves serving positions as recording secretary in GAA, secretary of Student Council, and other offices distributed throughout the senior high awaiting them in their sophomore year.

EIGHTH GRADE

Lonny Messer labored over a last-minute detail before the daily lunch break in Social Studies class.

Tigers Encounter Second Year At Withrow

Shiny batons glittered as newly-chosen eighth grade majorettes twirled in the half-time activities of junior high football games. Experiencing their second year as Tigers, eighth graders shared in many of Withrow's athletic and academic organizations. In Tiger Tales, results of junior high sports events were reported by eighth graders. All junior high students were offered membership in Russian Club, as well as a chance to be in the junior high Chess Club.

Eighth grade Student Council representatives served as committee chairmen and council members, preparing themselves for their last year in junior high school.

SEVENTH GRADE

Science project with scale model of Gemini capsule made moon exploration seem closer.

Tigers Master The Confusion Of Seventh Grade

Black cats and jack-o'-lanterns decorated the first junior high holiday dance which was, for many of Withrow's youngest Tigers, a new experience. Seventh graders were offered many new opportunities throughout the year. Girls who wanted to keep trim joined Club 15, designed to encourage exercise, or junior high G.A.A. Tiger Tales, the junior high newspaper, published original essays submitted by seventh graders. Anticipating high school, they vied for election to Student Council, where they could become familiar with Withrow's student government. In May, students having a "B" average were tapped for membership in the National Junior Honor Society.

*Halls are now barren; rooms, empty.
All have departed, some never to return.
As our stage door closes, it brings to an end all that has been represented by the SIGN OF THE TIGER.*

To Mrs Garner

for two years. And really like her. Good luck with the baby.

I love
